Convict Gives Self Up After Killing Sheriff

Still Handcuffed In Surrender To Pennsylvania Police

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An escaped convict, sought in an all-night manhunt for the slaying of a sheriff, stumbled from his hiding place in a wooded section at dawn today and meekly surrendered to police.

Gray - haired 50-year-old John Butler was still wearing the handcuffs with which he was manacled when he broke from a moving police car Wednesday afternoon after the shooting of Sheriff James R. Lauer, 52, of Northumberland County, Pa.

Wearing a muddy, white T-shirt and soaking wet blue trousers, Butler stumbled out of a foggy, wooded area just as a posse of about 150 policemen prepared to flush him out.

When Butler emerged from his hiding place with his arms held up in surrender, scores of policemen and newspaper photographers and reporters rushed down the hillside and converged on him. He remained silent.

Later, however, when a policeman asked Butler if he knew what he did, the convict replied, "Well, I guess he's dead."

Butler also said he was sorry for what he did, police said. He protested that he had not meant to kill and called the sheriff "a friend of mine."

He was taken to a spot where he hid for nearly 14 hours, a heavily wooded area located in a marshy area at the foot of a slope, and later to the Allegheny County jail here.

He didn't have the death weapon with him and police were unable to ascertain what he did with it.

He was captured about 200 yards from where the shooting occurred just north of Pittsburgh.

Ike Will Shun 'Summit' If Ministers Fail

Informs Gromyko His Presence Hinges On Geneva Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko "A measure of progress" must be made at the present Geneva East-West talks if Russia wants a summit meeting.

Eisenhower so expressed himself during a 30-minute White House meeting with Gromyko and the American, British and French foreign ministers.

Gromyko, without commenting on Eisenhower's call for progress, described the session as "a very pleasant and useful conversation."

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, described Gromyko's comment as "a tripartite declaration, thus saying in light humor that this was also their comment.

In a formal statement read to newsmen by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower expressed hope that the Geneva meeting "would lead to a better approach to the solution of the problems that confront us in Europe."

Hagerty said Eisenhower stressed the need for peaceful solutions to the problems of Germany's future and other issues now being debated. He added:

"The President likewise expressed the hope that on their return to Geneva the foreign ministers would be able to achieve that measure of progress which would make a subsequent meeting of heads of government desirable and useful."

Dulles' Body Laid To Rest At Arlington

Massive Ceremony Seldom Matched In History Of Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—The body of John Foster Dulles was laid in its final resting place Wednesday in a massive official ceremony seldom matched in the history of this country.

Hundreds of U.S. officials and many from abroad watched as Dulles' casket was committed to a simple grave on a hillock in Arlington National Cemetary.

A 2½-hour ritual was climaxed by a 19-gun salute, three rifle volleys, and the sounding of taps by a lone bugler. Dry-eyed and composed, Mrs. Dulles received the flag which had covered the casket during the funeral.

Then President and Mrs. Eisenhower once again expressed condolences to Mrs. Dulles, whose husband died of cancer Sunday after six years as secretary of state.

Today the galaxy of foreign leaders — including some who fought Dulles during his long diplomatic career—prepared to go their separate ways.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, scheduled a meeting with Eisenhower before returning to their Geneva conference temporarily recessed for the funeral.

Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, diplomatic representatives from 86 countries, and Washington's elite from the administration, Congress and the Supreme Court joined in the elaborate proceedings which started in the National Cathedral and moved to the cemetery in a 100-limousine cortege.

The cathedral—a huge, Gothic church atop a Washington high point—was filled with nearly 3,000 mourners for the Presbyterian funeral service led by the Rev. Dr. Russell P. Barnes, Secretary of the World Council of Churches. Dulles had been a Presbyterian lay leader.

At the grave site—on a hillside partly shaded by a yellow poplar tree—hundreds more gathered to witness the final military rites. Dulles was a major in World War I.

$12,000 Asked In School Aid

Beaver Local Ready For Bid Processing

George VanHorne, executive head of the Beaver Local School District, today reported plans "are in order" for processing bids on the building improvement program, and a request for an additional $12,000 has been filed with state education authorities.

VanHorne and Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, conferred with State Education Department officials at Columbus Wednesday concerning the $482,000 project which will provide for additions at the six schools.

The executive head said he has filed with the building section of the department a request for extra funds, and the section and Beaver Local will jointly ask for the grant from the Board of Control and State Board of Education.

VanHorne and Beatty will attend a meeting of the State Board June 8 when action on the whole program is expected.

Some $489,000 in bids on the work were received by the board Friday. The State Board has the final authority on awarding the bids and construction will begin as soon as possible once the contracts are approved, VanHorne said.

The district approved a $220,000 bond issue for the work, and the state has authorized a $250,000 grant to finance the additions at the high school, public school and four elementary centers.

Major Crisis In Berlin Seen In Two Years

West Expects Reds To Accept Stopgap Proposal At Geneva

GENEVA (AP) — Some Western officials believe the real Berlin crisis will come in 1961, not this year or the next.

They believe the Soviets will accept some stopgap agreement at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference that will continue the uneasy Allied occupation of West Berlin.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in their view, hopes that national elections in Britain, the United States and West Germany will bring in new administrations that will weaken or shatter the united Allied front on German issues.

Should Socialist governments replace the present Conservative administrations in Britain this year or next and in West Germany in 1961, far-reaching changes would most likely result in foreign policies of those two nations.

A Democratic administration in Washington in 1961 probably would change U.S. foreign policy little, but it might change it some.

The opening of these officials is that Khrushchev will not risk an armed clash over Berlin at this time.

Khrushchev's November ultimatum to the Big Three to get out of West Berlin in six months is considered by these officials as primarily a probing action to test the unity of the Allies.

They stress that the Soviet leader, confronted with a phalanx of Allied determination to remain in the divided city, scrapped his deadline. In return, he got the virtual promise of the summit meeting he apparently wants so badly.

Ohio Highway Official Warns Traffic Violators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Patrolmen will not be prone to accept any excuses" from highway traffic violators this weekend, an Ohio Highway Patrol official warns.

"We're out to save lives," said Capt. D. W. Unkle, chief of enforcement for the patrol. His organization and all local law enforcement agencies plan an all-out effort to keep the state's Memorial Day weekend traffic death toll from reaching the 22 predicted by the Department of Highway Safety.

Board Urges Passage

Stanton Will Vote On School Bonds

For the third time in less than a year, residents of the Stanton Local School District will go to the polls Tuesday in a special election to decide a $498,000 bond issue.

The issue is for construction of a new 10-room elementary school in the Stratton-Empire area along the riverfront and for installation of inside toilets in the Hammondsville elementary school.

The proposed building would be a one-story structure and would contain a multi-purpose room (auditorium and gymnasium combined), cafeteria, music room, toilets, showers and offices.

A 60 PER cent affirmative vote will be required for passage.

Stanton officials today issued a statement, as follows:

"This bond issue is for the purpose of constructing a new 10-room elementary building in the Stratton-Empire area. It will replace the present buildings in Empire, Stratton and Port Homer.

"The buildings in Empire and Stratton under the present plan will not meet the minimum state standards after Sept. 1, 1959.

"The Port Homer building and site will be ruined by the relocation of State Route 7. The Board of Education was recently advised by the State Highway Department that construction in this area would be underway prior to June 1, 1961, and that the highway department would be acquiring rights-of-way within the next year.

"THIS BOND issue will also provide for installation of inside toilets in the Hammondsville elementary school building. This is the only school building in Jefferson County that does not have inside toilet facilities."

"The building at Stratton is a two-teacher, eighth grade building with 41 pupils. This is the only school in Eastern Ohio like this.

Vandals Destroy Peonies Intended To Mark Grave

Mrs. Frances Cartwright, 342 W. 4th St., wept softly today as she told how vandals ripped up and destroyed the peonies she had tended lovingly all spring, intending to use them to decorate her husband's grave for Memorial Day.

"He always liked pink and white peonies," she said. "I didn't want them for myself."

Mrs. Cartwright told police the flowers were ripped from the three big peony bushes in her lawn by young vandals last night. All the blooms were ripped off and some of the big plants were torn up by the roots, she said. Most of the flowers—wilted and broken—were found this morning under a neighbor's porch, where the boys had thrown them.

Mrs. Cartwright said she tended the peonies all spring, intending to use them to decorate the Columbiana County Memorial Park grave of her late husband, Joseph. When wind and rain storms threatened, she tied them up carefully so that the blooms would not be beaten down or broken, she said.

Mrs. Cartwright had made arrangements with a friend to drive her to Memorial Park Friday to place the flowers on the grave.

"There were three bushes, pink peonies and white peonies," she said. "He always liked them so well, so I was saving them for him."

Police promised to investigate. Mrs. Cartwright said, however, that she fears if the boys are punished they will commit other acts of vandalism at her property in vegeance.

"I don't have the money to replace windows they might break," she said. "I just hope they let me alone."

Rocket Hit Altitude Of 300 Miles

U.S. Claims Major Break-Through In Man's Orbital Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Two monkeys returned alive today from a space ride in the nose cone of an Army missile.

The Army announced that both monkeys were recovered alive from compartments in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile fired from Cape Canaveral. The rocket had climbed to an altitude of 300 miles and flown at speeds up to 10,000 m.p.h.

The little female monkeys, named Able and Baker, are the first living creatures known to have ridden into space and come back alive.

The feat represents a major break-through in the U.S. effort to put a man into orbital flight.

Scientists said instruments attached to the monkeys showed they suffered little ill effect from the stresses of blast-off and the weird experience of weightlessness.

Only the bare announcement that the monkeys survived was contained in the initial report received by the Army from a Navy ship which recovered the nose cone. This was near the island of Antigua 92 minutes after the Jupiter was fired.

Technicians explained that the delay was the result of the need to undo a mechanical maze in opening the passenger compartment.

It had been known previously, through radio signals from the nose cone, that the monkeys were alive and well one minute before their landing in the water.

But for the last minute signals failed, an occurrence not at all unusual as a space rocket drops below the horizon.

"Both animals are alive and perfect with no injuries," the Army announced 6½ hours after the launching.

One important scientific check failed because of telemetry difficulties.

Able had been trained in response tests to push a telegraph key at the flash of a red light in her capsule.

The light was set to blink once each second during the flight. Medical scientists said Able became very proficient, in training, at responding.

The scientists especially wanted to know how she responded in the period of weightlessness. That would be important in relation to what might be expected of men released from the gravitational pull of the earth.

Instruments did record and relay information on heartbeat and breathing rate.

The rescue operation was carried out by the fleet tug Kiowa, on watch in the target area with two destroyer escorts, the Snowden and the Brough. The nose cone was reported to have come down within 10 miles of the recovery ship in the selected area 30 to 60 miles north of Antigua Island.

Project directors said poor radio communications with the Kiowa contributed to the delay in word that the monkeys had survived.

The word of the monkeys' condition came in a cable from Maj. Gerald Champlin, a medical officer stationed on the recovery ship.

"Able Baker perfect. No injuries or other difficulties," it said. The message was addressed to

Britain Sifts Plea Of Red Attache's Wife For Asylum

LONDON (AP) — The British government today pondered the plea of a Soviet naval attache's wife for asylum for herself and small daughter to escape Soviet security men who rushed her husband back to Moscow under guard.

Mrs. Nina Dmitriev, 35, and her 5-year-old daughter Lena hid out with White Russian friends in London, under the protection of Scotland Yard until her request is decided.

British officials said the plea was being considered on its merits.

Mrs. Dmitriev showed up at the Foreign Office Wednesday and agreed to meet with Soviet embassy agents who had been trying to track her down for four days. At the interview — in the presence of British officials — the embassy men failed to talk her into going with them.

Soviet security men rushed her husband, Capt. Aleksander Dmitriev, 38, out of London on a jet airliner bound for Moscow.

Just before Dmitriev, an assistant Soviet naval attache, boarded the plane British Home Office officials asked him whether he wanted to stay in Britain. "I wish to leave for Moscow," he replied.

The Soviet embassy refused to discuss the case.

$12,000 Asked In School Aid

Beaver Local Ready For Bid Processing

George VanHorne, executive head of the Beaver Local School District, today reported plans "are in order" for processing bids on the building improvement program, and a request for an additional $12,000 has been filed with state education authorities.

VanHorne and Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, conferred with State Education Department officials at Columbus Wednesday concerning the $482,000 project which will provide for additions at the six schools.

The executive head said he has filed with the building section of the department a request for extra funds, and the section and Beaver Local will jointly ask for the grant from the Board of Control and State Board of Education.

VanHorne and Beatty will attend a meeting of the State Board June 8 when action on the whole program is expected.

Some $489,000 in bids on the work were received by the board Friday. The State Board has the final authority on awarding the bids and construction will begin as soon as possible once the contracts are approved, VanHorne said.

The district approved a $220,000 bond issue for the work, and the state has authorized a $250,000 grant to finance the additions at the high school, public school and four elementary centers.

Major Crisis In Berlin Seen In Two Years

West Expects Reds To Accept Stopgap Proposal At Geneva

GENEVA (AP) — Some Western officials believe the real Berlin crisis will come in 1961, not this year or the next.

They believe the Soviets will accept some stopgap agreement at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference that will continue the uneasy Allied occupation of West Berlin.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in their view, hopes that national elections in Britain, the United States and West Germany will bring in new administrations that will weaken or shatter the united Allied front on German issues.

Should Socialist governments replace the present Conservative administrations in Britain this year or next and in West Germany in 1961, far-reaching changes would most likely result in foreign policies of those two nations.

A Democratic administration in Washington in 1961 probably would change U.S. foreign policy little, but it might change it some.

Khrushchev's November ultimatum to the Big Three to get out of West Berlin in six months is considered by these officials as primarily a probing action to test the unity of the Allies.

They stress that the Soviet leader, confronted with a phalanx of Allied determination to remain in the divided city, scrapped his deadline. In return, he got the virtual promise of the summit meeting he apparently wants so badly.

Board Urges Passage

Stanton Will Vote On School Bonds

For the third time in less than a year, residents of the Stanton Local School District will go to the polls Tuesday in a special election to decide a $498,000 bond issue.

The issue is for construction of a new 10-room elementary school in the Stratton-Empire area along the riverfront and for installation of inside toilets in the Hammondsville elementary school.

The proposed building would be a one-story structure and would contain a multi-purpose room (auditorium and gymnasium combined), cafeteria, music room, toilets, showers and offices.

A 60 PER cent affirmative vote will be required for passage.

Stanton officials today issued a statement, as follows:

"This bond issue is for the purpose of constructing a new 10-room elementary building in the Stratton-Empire area. It will replace the present buildings in Empire, Stratton and Port Homer.

"The buildings in Empire and Stratton under the present plan will not meet the minimum state standards after Sept. 1, 1959.

Vandals Destroy Peonies Intended To Mark Grave

Mrs. Frances Cartwright, 342 W. 4th St., wept softly today as she told how vandals ripped up and destroyed the peonies she had tended lovingly all spring, intending to use them to decorate her husband's grave for Memorial Day.

"He always liked pink and white peonies," she said. "I didn't want them for myself."

Mrs. Cartwright told police the flowers were ripped from the three big peony bushes in her lawn by young vandals last night. All the blooms were ripped off and some of the big plants were torn up by the roots, she said. Most of the flowers—wilted and broken—were found this morning under a neighbor's porch, where the boys had thrown them.

Mrs. Cartwright said she tended the peonies all spring, intending to use them to decorate the Columbiana County Memorial Park grave of her late husband, Joseph. When wind and rain storms threatened, she tied them up carefully so that the blooms would not be beaten down or broken, she said.

Mrs. Cartwright had made arrangements with a friend to drive her to Memorial Park Friday to place the flowers on the grave.

"There were three bushes, pink peonies and white peonies," she said. "He always liked them so well, so I was saving them for him."

Police promised to investigate. Mrs. Cartwright said, however, that she fears if the boys are punished they will commit other acts of vandalism at her property in vegeance.

"I don't have the money to replace windows they might break," she said. "I just hope they let me alone."

Able had been trained in response tests to push a telegraph key at the flash of a red light in her capsule.

The light was set to blink once each second during the flight. Medical scientists said Able became very proficient, in training, at responding.

The scientists especially wanted to know how she responded in the period of weightlessness. That would be important in relation to what might be expected of men released from the gravitational pull of the earth.

Instruments did record and relay information on heartbeat and breathing rate.

The rescue operation was carried out by the fleet tug Kiowa, on watch in the target area with two destroyer escorts, the Snowden and the Brough. The nose cone was reported to have come down within 10 miles of the recovery ship in the selected area 30 to 60 miles north of Antigua Island.

Project directors said poor radio communications with the Kiowa contributed to the delay in word that the monkeys had survived.

The word of the monkeys' condition came in a cable from Maj. Gerald Champlin, a medical officer stationed on the recovery ship.

"Able Baker perfect. No injuries or other difficulties," it said. The message was addressed to

2 Monkeys Alive After Space Flight

Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commanding general of the Army Ordnance Missile Command who helped conduct today's Jupiter shot.

Barclay said the recovery ship had to relay its messages to a nearby destroyer which in turn passed the message to San Juan, Puerto Rico. From San Juan the message was cabled to Cape Canaveral.

The monkeys were hurled aloft at the tip of an Army Jupiter rocket at 2:35 a.m. The nose cone was recovered from the water near Antigua Island at 4:08 a.m. by a Navy ship. Their 10,000 m.p.h. journey into space took 15 minutes.

The report of little ill effects from the experience was given by Dr. Aston Gabriel, director of research at the Naval School of Medicine at Pensacola, Fla.

He said Able, a 7-pound rhesus monkey, showed only a little variation from normal in heartbeat and respiration. Able was chosen for the test because she was a primate of high enough order to provide data applicable to man.

Baker, a 1-pound squirrel monkey, showed only a slight increase in heartbeat.

The Navy ships and aircraft worked with the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in conducting the experiment.

The recovery technique had been used successfully in three out of four previous missile launchings by the Army.

The ships and planes were waiting in the impact area before the Jupiter roared up from Cape Canaveral.

The recovery equipment included a large colored balloon, covered chemicals for marking the water, signal lights and a radio transmitter to help the waiting ships "home in" on the floating cone.

Shark repellant was released to protect Navy "frogmen" who dove into the ocean to secure lines for lifting the cone suspended beneath the balloon.

The Jupiter missile used in the experiment was the same type which the Army had used in two deep space probes launched for NASA. One of the two probes—Pioneer IV — became the first American satellite to orbit the sun after its launching on March 3.

The five-foot orange and blue balloon from which the nose cone was suspended was inflated by air bottles inside the nose cone.

The tug carried special equipment designed by Army scientists for the recovery operation.

Able, a seven-pound rhesus monkey, punched a telegraph key in a behavior test as the missile roared aloft in a burst of fire and thunder. Baker, a one-pound squirrel monkey, was heavily instrumented with electronic circuits to record the effects of space travel on body functions.

The space travelers were not alone in the huge nose cone as they started the 10,000-mile-an-hour flight.

Several small samples of animal and vegetable matter were aboard to provide a further reaction to radiation and weightlessness.

Included in the radiation study were specimens of yeast, corn, mustard seed, fruit fly larvae and human blood.

The eggs and sperm of several sea urchins were included in the experiment to evaluate the effects of acceleration, deceleration, radiation and weightlessness on the egg fertilization process. A similar test was conducted with a mold spore.

The monkey flight was vitally important to the seven men picked to be the first U.S. space travelers. Within two years, one of these is expected to follow the path into space pioneered today by Able and Baker.

The monkeys were expected to be in a free, or weightless, state for about 9 minutes during the 15-minute flight. It was during this period that scientists hoped to learn much about the weightless problem, expected to be a major headache for future spacemen.

The 60-foot missile rose straight up on a tail of fire for some 80 seconds, then curved high in the darkened sky and headed southeast down the Atlantic missile range.

The Soviets' famous space dog, Laika, died in 1957 while in orbit around the earth in Sputnik II.

Able and Baker rode in cozy cabins, strapped in separate sealed capsules. The animal and vegetable materials also were in individual compartments.

Informed sources reported Able was in a special chamber weighing in excess of 200 pounds in almost the exact center of the rounded nose cone, which was 75 to 80 inches wide at the bottom. Before Able's face was a small light that flashed at pre-set intervals. She was trained to push a modified telegraph key at each blink of the light in a psycho-behavioral test.

Able had been taught for weeks to make this behavioral response. Whether she would continue to do so in space, especially when her body was without weight because of the great distance from the earth's gravitional pull, was one of the things scientists wanted to learn. This monkey rested in a comfortable, fiberglass contoured couch.

Baker was in a capsule fastened to the inside of the nose cone, about one inch from the shell. She was at the base of the cone, for easy access before launching.

Two district motorists, both in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in a collision at Flag Pole Hill below Wellsville early Wednesday morning, will face traffic charges when they are released, the Wintersville State Highway Patrol said today.

Keith Casto, 33, of Midland Hotel at Midland will be charged with passing without the assured clear distance and Eugene Ceneviva, 22, of 217 3rd St., Wellsville, will be cited for driving on an expired permit.

Officers said Casto was passing a slow moving steel truck when his car crashed into one driven by Ceneviva. Casto's car was then shoved back into the side of the truck driven by James Granato, 40, of Weirton.

Ceneviva suffered possible spine and jaw injuries while Casto received chest and elbow injuries.

The Ohio Township Municipal Authority announced that the deadline for applications for a new water distribution system has been extended to July 1.

The authority said a few applications still are needed and urged hesitant persons to contact authority members or members of the Fairview Grange.

It was pointed out that a water system would insure a safe water supply, give fire protection and add value to property.

Stanton Waits Vote On Bonds

bond issue will be 2.4 mills. This is a great reduction from the original levy of 5.1 mills. This reduction is due to the increase in valuation of the new Ohio Edison power plant.

"THE TAX payers in the Stanton Local School District received a break when they received their tax bills last February. Taxes were reduced $2.80 per $1,000 valuation. Additional tax reductions are coming, as the Board of Education is now planning a reduction of 1.35 mills this coming fall.

"The site for the new building has been moved to a point farther north where the ground is somewhat higher."

The initial election for the new school was in July 1958 when voters rejected a bond issue by a vote of 515 to 409. In another election in November 1958, the plan was again rejected by a closer margin — 713 to 629.

Drivers Hurt In Crash Face Traffic Charges

Two district motorists, both in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in a collision at Flag Pole Hill below Wellsville early Wednesday morning, will face traffic charges when they are released, the Wintersville State Highway Patrol said today.

Keith Casto, 33, of Midland Hotel at Midland will be charged with passing without the assured clear distance and Eugene Ceneviva, 22, of 217 3rd St., Wellsville, will be cited for driving on an expired permit.

Officers said Casto was passing a slow moving steel truck when his car crashed into one driven by Ceneviva. Casto's car was then shoved back into the side of the truck driven by James Granato, 40, of Weirton.

Ceneviva suffered possible spine and jaw injuries while Casto received chest and elbow injuries.

Ohio Township Delays Water Project Deadline

The Ohio Township Municipal Authority announced that the deadline for applications for a new water distribution system has been extended to July 1.

The authority said a few applications still are needed and urged hesitant persons to contact authority members or members of the Fairview Grange.

It was pointed out that a water system would insure a safe water supply, give fire protection and add value to property.

Stanton Waits Vote On Bonds

bond issue will be 2.4 mills. This is a great reduction from the original levy of 5.1 mills. This reduction is due to the increase in valuation of the new Ohio Edison power plant.

—:—

"THE TAX payers in the Stanton Local School District received a break when they received their tax bills last February. Taxes were reduced $2.80 per $1,000 valuation. Additional tax reductions are coming, as the Board of Education is now planning a reduction of 1.35 mills this coming fall.

"The site for the new building has been moved to a point farther north where the ground is somewhat higher."

The initial election for the new school was in July 1958 when voters rejected a bond issue by a vote of 515 to 409. In another election in November 1958, the plan was again rejected by a closer margin — 713 to 629.

It's Time For Action

Three persons were injured when a tractor-trailer truck shattered their car early Wednesday at the bottom of the Route 30 hill in Chester.

From the force of the blow, the final traffic statistics could have read three killed instead of three injured.

The accident occurred about 6 a. m. Had it been some two hours later, the figures could have been more shocking, with school children among the probable victims.

The names of those involved in Wednesday's mishap are new, but the story itself is an old one. Many have been hurt at the same spot—in the vicinity of the Washington School.

Chester residents are angered and aroused. They have been in the past, too, once to the extent that a group banded together about two years ago and made a trip to the state capitol at Charleston to present the situation and offer a suggested remedy.

Their complaints and their suggestions fell on sympathetic ears at the time. State officials conducted a traffic check at the scene and followed up with new signals designed for increased safety. Since then, however, nothing else has been done. And traffic signals alone are far from the answer. A change in the highway at the danger point seems to be the one proper solution.

If nothing is done, it's only a matter of time until injuries such as those of yesterday will be turned into the traffic fatalities of tomorrow. There are too many residents of Chester and nearby communities personally concerned with a satisfactory answer to the problem for the administration at Charleston to sit back and do nothing further.

Effective Water Policy For Ohio

As long as they get results when they turn on their faucets, most Ohioans see no need to worry about where their next glass of water is coming from.

They would be astounded if they knew it was a critical problem. So much do they take water for granted they never realize it is their most valuable natural resource. The thought that water — right here in Ohio —might become so scarce in usable form as to threaten their health and happiness is as remote to them as the Sahara Desert.

Yet that is exactly what water experts have been telling them for years. There have been studies, suggestions, advice and both short — and long-range plans.

There has been action, too, on a number of fronts. The primary failing on the action side has been that it is just that — on a number of fronts, piecemeal, with a minimum of coordination and over-all thought.

THE EXPERTS say Ohio should change that and start seeing the picture as a whole. Ten of them, appointed by former Gov. C. William O'Neill as the Ohio Water Survey Committee, recommended last year that a single, powerful agency be set up to write and enforce an all-embracing water policy for the entire state.

Fortunately for the mass of uninterested citizens, some of our state leaders are interested and action appears to be forthcoming from the current administration and the 103rd General Assembly.

Gov. DiSalle has spoken repeatedly on the subject and recently drew up a 14-page statement of his views on and hopes for water development.

Sen. Danny D. Johnson (D-New Philadelphia) has written a bill to create the agency and give it the powers recommended by the survey committee.

Unfortunately, there is a disagreement between the governor and the senator which seems minor on the surface but which could become a serious barrier to a really effective job by the proposed Ohio Water Commission.

Sen. Johnson's bill would put the commission in the Department of Natural Resources with the present Division of Water as its administrative arm.

Gov. DiSalle insists the commission should be in his proposed new Department of Industrial and Economic Development. The bill now before the Legislature to set up the new department includes two sections which purport to do that.

It seems to us the senator has the weight of evidence on his side.

IN THE FIRST place, a long line of specialists who have devoted their professional lives to water control and use agree with him. Surely, the weight of their expert opinion should not be cast aside.

In the second place, as the DiSalle bill creating the new industrial department is now written, its water agency would by merely another "water advisory committee." This is in direct conflict with the idea that the time is past when advisory agencies are needed. What is needed now is an operating agency with power to do more than just study and suggest.

In the third place, a policy - making body that can put its policies into effect must have an administrative arm to do the routine work. The existing Division of Water in the Department of Natural Resources would be the logical office to perform such a function.

In the fourth place, if the new commission is to command a truly panoramic view of the state's water development, there could be no better "home" for it than the Natural Resources Department.

The commission is designed to direct the use of water for agriculture, recreation, public supply, health and flood control as well as commerce and industry. Placed in any other department than natural resources, it would be in danger of being equipped with blinders confining its view to one or another of these fields to the detriment of others. They are all equally important.

THE PROPOSED new Ohio Water Commission will not be in itself the solution to all the state's water problems. It will not be able to accomplish immediately all of the desirable goals set forth in the O'Neill committee's survey or in Gov. DiSalle's recent message.

But it will be a big — and important— first step. It is vital to the future of Ohio and Ohioans that its first step be in the right direction.

Because we are convinced Gov. DiSalle is sincere in his expressed desire for the best possible water progress in Ohio, we believe he should yield to Sen. Johnson's view.

The Ohio Water Commission should be in the Department of Natural Resources.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

Here was a man who kept the faith
Who sought no cheap applause;
A dead-game fighter for the right,
And fighter for a cause.
Himself he knew not how to spare;
He sensed the killing grade
And saw Death standing in the wings,
Yet went on unafraid.

II

He lacked the "color and the smiles" —
The quips that highly rate;
(Give me the man who seeks no laughs
And strives to play it straight.)
He could have known such peace and ease
But saw war's blood and slime,
And, stricken, felt but one clear call—
"There is so little time."

"MR. DEDICATION," John Foster Dulles, while on the non - glitter side, stood out in sharp contrast to the personality-smile, vote-seeking compromisers, wobblers and wise-cracking boys who are a dime a dozen in public life. He could take the cheers or leave 'em.

He was a throwback to the sturdy pioneers who put conviction, zeal for the right and contempt for vacillation first and foremost. His personality seemed straight out of an old and revered family album showing the stalwarts of yesterday.

The stern look, turned down corners of the mouth and rimless "specs" were there. He threw off no glow, yet a fierce and constant light flamed within him. Its fuel was a deep sense of public service.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE a transition from the Man In The Dark Flannel Suit and Homburg Hat to the happy guy in Bermuda shorts, open shirt and rumpled hat, relaxed and carefree at the tiller of a sailboat, was not easy to grasp. Yet this citizen who flew the seas and continents, serving in conference halls, palaces and government headquarters of the world, was at home in the solitude of a small Lake Ontario island, free from all the trappings of dignity.

Away from law office, hectic Washington and tough missions abroad, the slapping of a tide against an old pier, the cry of a waterbird and the soft music of a breeze through the halyards meant a welcome switch from clicking typewriters, the roar of airplane motors and the hubbub of world hassels.

Traveler extraordinary, he has made the "green pastures" and the "still waters." Ended are the ordeals, burdens and search for peace. There are no speeches, debates, criticisms . . . just a soft "Well done, good and faithful servant."

A NEW YORK MAN who, on relief rolls, played the stock market for $21,000 profit was let off upon refunding most of the money. It will be strange if Washington doesn't sign him up to help balance the budget. . .

Nothing's the matter with the N.Y. Yankees that June, July and August can't cure. . . .

King Baudouin of Belgium can outdrive Ike 50 yards, says caddy. Yeah, but Ike's European drive sayed Belgium. Remember? . . .

P.K.K. says a depressed area is often a section where the factory space for workers' de luxe autos is only two-thirds full. . .

It seems even to his friends that Harry Truman could have done a little better than, "In Mr. Dulles' death we have lost a good public servant and I am as sorry as I CAN BE." Still it was less hypocritical than some of the "regrets" by dignitaries who had opposed him throughout his secretaryship.

THE MIRACLE of the Resurrection has taken place these weeks in bud and leaf and flower. The lilac in the shadow of an old barn has told the deathless story more convincingly than cathedral preachers. The gnarled apple tree by a lopsided woodshed has testified to the everlasting life.

From back porch and train window the stone has been seen rolled away and the words "He is not here; He has risen" heard.

In a patch of violets beside a stone fence has come the message, "Be not faithless but believing." Through the trees has been whispered, "A little while and ye shall not see Me; and again a little while and ye shall see Me."

Impatient Commuter

An Oscar For Jimmy Hoffa

By Victor Riesel

Whatever they give as an Emmy or Oscar or Billie for the best political acting should go to Jimmy Hoffa for his Texas performance last week. Single - handedly he saved himself a tough ally, the International Longshoremen's Assn., whose 60,000 dockwallopers might have been moving into the AFL - CIO by this time after six years of expulsion.

Victor Riesel

Here's how Hoffa's Brownsville blast disrupted some of his opposition's neatest strategy. For some time now master tactician Louis Waldman, the first counsel to be known as "labor lawyer," has been negotiating with national AFL-CIO leaders on cleaning up and moving the ILA back inside the big house of labor. Many believed it was all set.

SUCH A MOVE was welcomed by national labor chiefs because it would have cut the ties between the Longshoremen and the Teamsters—a combine which could strike, clog and finally paralyze all ocean and rail freight traffic.

Finally in Puerto Rico, last February, labor's high command appointed a four-man committee to look into the ILA and report back this past week to the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Washington.

That report would have been one favoring the return of the controversial waterfront union—so immortalized in film and newsprint over the years. This was apparent in the national office of the Stage Hands Union in New York last Thursday, May 14.

That day a group of men met there for three hours. It was a long and friendly discussion, sometimes led by Louis Waldman; sometimes by its stage hands president, Dick Walsh, a member of the four-man AFL-CIO "inspection committee"; sometimes by such longshoremen chiefs as Capt. Bill Bradley, ILA president; Teddy Gleason, chief organizer; Packy Connolly, vice president, and others.

THEY ALL LEFT believing that the committee would recommend the acceptance of the waterfront men. Jim Hoffa got the message quickly from someone who reported to him on the session.

The teamster chief headed for the ILA regional convention in Brownsville. He unleashed the now famous general strike talk. Corpulent Bill Bradley trod the boards and reverently said wherever you go, we go.

Back in Washington, the AFL-CIO chiefs had some suggestions to make which can't be printed. But going back inside the AFL-CIO was not one of them.

The ILA leaders will gather in mid-July in Miami Beach for their national convention. They'll make their next move there.

Unworthy Motives

By Raymond Moley

A necessarily brief service as secretary of commerce would neither add to nor detract from Lewis Strauss' reputation as a public servant and private citizen. His status in both capacities is secure and distinguished.

But the bitter opposition to him by some senators has been based on motives that impair public confidence in the great institution they represent. That confidence has been lessened in the past few years to a deplorable degree.

At the very heart of the opposition has been the personal feeling of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

The very multiplicity of Anderson's charges casts doubt upon the strength of any of them. When a good prosecutor has a good case, he can be content to rest it upon one or very few facts. However, in this case almost every conceivable charge has been leveled against the nominee.

HIS INTEGRITY, proved in years of public affairs, has been assailed. His capacity has been challenged, despite the stark fact that the secretaryship of commerce is a relatively unimportant office. For the Senate to back such charges is to injure not Strauss but the Senate itself.

Perhaps more tact more cozening, and more flattery might have created better relations long ago when the AEC chairman and the senator were compelled to deal extensively with each other. But it should be remembered that the position of Strauss in the AEC involved immense responsibilities and exacting decisions. Not only was the security of the United States involved, but the whole future of atomic energy as a servant of mankind. Strauss labored indefatigably to promote both ends.

But other motives entered into the opposition which are easy to see. The desire of senators like Kefauver and Gore and O'Mahoney to create a government monopoly in the generation and distribution of electric power has reached the proportions of a passion. Other senators are consumed by the same zeal.

On that point, Strauss was seeking to carry out the declared policy of Congress and the President to encourage private investment to assume a larger and larger part of the cost of bringing power generated by the atom to the services of the people.

Even David Lilienthal, former chairman of the AEC and certainly no enemy of public power, favored private development. And Strauss, with his long experience in business, was well aware of the vast amounts of private investment in the hands of all sorts of Americans who might assume that cost and at once save taxpayers and prevent government monopoly in that field.

The clamor of some scientists, some commentators, many fellow travelers and their soft-headed sympathizers for the destruction of the man who assumed major responsibility for removing J. Robert Oppenheimer from access to information vital to national survival was a big factor in the opposition.

In that instance, Strauss and the other who conducted the examinations were most diligent to disclose all the facts. Those facts prove to anyone who reads the record that Oppenheimer, while not a Communist himself, was, so far as his associates and connections were concerned, guilty of incredibly bad judgment, to say the least.

In a public position involving the critical struggle between international communism and human freedom, bad judgment is as dangerous as bad intentions. No one questioned Oppenheimer's skill as a scientist. What he lacked was plain common sense.

To make matters worse, his attitude toward the development of the hydrogen bomb, a decision which is not for any scientist to make, has proved to have been a tragic mistake.

FINALLY, among senators a petty yearning to play politics by embarrassing the President has seemed to be widespread. In this case, they have been violating an unwritten rule that the President is entitled to choose his own Cabinet members unless some gross defect is present which would clearly disqualify the nominee for the job.

Only by the use of gross imaginings could anyone say that Strauss is not qualified by his experience in business to serve well in the post. The Senate even approved of Henry Wallace for secretary of commerce, although he was not only totally incapable of understanding business but was ideologically opposed to free enterprise.

Letter To Editor

In reply to a letter written by Mr. Harry Springer, which was published in your paper last week, I should like to make the following comment:

Mr. Springer is distorting the facts. He may be interested in knowing that the idea for the meeting to which he referred originated in Stratton. The meeting was held in a room adjacent to the fire station in Stratton and Mr. Springer was in attendance.

The only representatives from Irondale attending this meeting were Robert Paisley and myself, and not a total of six as Mr. Springer stated.

Long Arm Of Tyranny

By David Lawrence

Gromyko Unable To Travel Alone

The spectre of Communist imperialism pursued John Foster Dulles to his grave. Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko arranged to attend the last rites at Washington but the circumstances that preceded his departure from Geneva reveal how the monolithic system of the Soviets works even when simple amenities and international courtesies are involved.

David Lawrence

When the news of the death of the former secretary of state came, the British and the French foreign ministers had no hesitation in announcing that they would attend the funeral. Foreign Minister Gromyko was silent. He had to consult his government and it took 24 hours because Premier Khrushchev was traveling near Albania.

Finally permission came but Mr. Gromyko, who first indicated he might travel on Secretary Herter's plane, found upon inquiry that there was only one vacant seat. The Soviet foreign minister sought two extra seats for his aides. When this couldn't be arranged, Mr. Gromyko decided to go on a commercial plane. Neither the British nor French foreign secretaries had to take anyone along.

Why did the Soviet foreign minister pass up an opportunity to sit down in privacy with the foreign ministers of Britain and France and the secretary of state of the United States?

The answer is that he is not permitted to travel unaccompanied. He had to have a place for his No. 2 man. That's the Soviet method of watching everyone who occupies any post of importance under the dictator.

AS FOR THE RETURN journey to Geneva, Secretary Herter arranged to have Mr. Gromyko, together with a Soviet adviser, ride with him on his plane.

There has been some suggestion that, if the four foreign ministers could sit down together away from the large number of persons who usually attend the formal sessions, some real progress might be made in the negotiations.

Certainly on an airplane, with so few individuals present and no reporters or photographers waiting at the door, it might be imagined that the Soviet foreign minister would grab the chance for a candid discussion. But he operates under strict instructions from the Premier. He can't even go to a social function alone. He is under constant observation for, in the Soviet Union's hierarchy, nobody trusts anybody else.

Perhaps the real significance in the avoidance by Mr. Gromyko of a private session on the plane lies in the fact that the Soviet government was not yet ready for any really private confabs. They apparently had a purpose in prolonging the speechmaking.

The Soviets now say they will get down to brass tacks on Friday. They have delayed negotiations, believing the West would become impatient and that an agreement on some specific point might thereby be reached which would be sufficient to justify a summit meeting.

ONE OF THE PURPOSES in the deliberate delay also has been to give time for propagandizing behind the Iron Curtain and especially in East Germany, where the Soviet radio stations are making a big play of the idea that there is to be a peace treaty granting "independence" to the so-called German democratic republic.

The Soviet propaganda doesn't always work efficiently. The East German stations, upon hearing of the death of former Secretary Dulles, issued long tirades of abuse about him. The Soviet stations themselves were silent for a while and then gave a bit of praise to Mr. Dulles as an individual. In recounting his biography, they emphasized his career as a lawyer for large corporations — as if this could possibly have any bearing on the career being reviewed.

THIS CONTRADICTION between the East German and Soviet stations didn't last long but it illustrates the difficulty the Soviets have in co-ordinating their many outlets of comment.

Usually they delay a long time before issuing any statements on delicate subjects of international importance and in this instance there was a delay of several hours before the Moscow radio stations as to how they were to treat the news of the death of Mr. Dulles.

So, to the last, the hand of the Communist tyrant — against the spread of whose influence in the free world Mr. Dulles fought so valiantly — reached out to make sure that even in death the former secretary of state would not score any propaganda advantage in the minds of the people behind the Iron Curtain.

A Bill In Trouble

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The labor control bill, given a big sendoff by the Senate, is in sad shape now.

In the Senate on April 25 it got about the fattest endorsement any measure could hope for, short of a unanimous vote. The vote was 90-1.

Since both houses have to vote for a measure before it can become law, the Senate-passed bill went over to the House for action. There the Labor Committee held, and is still holding, hearings.

A massacre began:

1. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell wanted the Senate bill tightened up.

2. Big labor and big business both came out against it: labor because it says the bill is too tough, business because it thinks the bill isn't tough enough.

3. The 30 members of the House committee are reportedly split every which way on the kind of bill they think is needed.

So if some kind of labor control bill ever gets out of the committee for House action—chances are it won't—it's pretty certain any bill passed by the House will be different from the one the Senate blessed.

That would require House and Senate to get together and compromise on a single bill, since no bill can become law unless both houses agree on every detail.

Such a compromised agreement might be impossible to get before Congress quits this summer for the year.

Eisenhower and Mitchell want the House to include provisions left out by the Senate: to deal with blackmail picketing and secondary boycotts.

The AFL-CIO called the Senate bill a mess and a monstrosity. Its president, George Meany, said his organization would support legislation it considered appropriate for helping unions curb corruption.

But he said amendments written into the labor bill in the Senate would hurt union activity and hinder instead of encouraging democratic union procedures. The huge AFL-CIO promised a battle to get the Senate bill changed in the House.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Assn. of Manufacturers, like the AFL-CIO, have made a section by section analysis of the Senate bill.

The NAM said the Senate bill "fails woefully, in the opinion of experts, to meet the desperate need for curbing the monopoly power of union bosses." It wants unions put under antitrust laws and barred from any form of compulsory union membership. And it wants picketing and boycott bans tightened.

William Barton, the Chamber's general counsel, said his organization frankly would prefer no changes in labor law this year to seeing the Senate bill become law.

He said it would fool people into thinking an effective anticorruption measure had been passed when, he argued, such would not be true.

On top of all this James Hoffa, the Teamsters' Union president, angered Congress when he was quoted—although he later denied it—as threatening a nationwide strike if Congress passed a labor control bill he didn't like.

Aid To Braille

Electronic wizardry is the newest aid to Louis Braille's 130-year-old system of printing for the blind.

A high-speed computer has been adapted to convert English into Braille. The giant mechanical brain transcribes a 300-page book in an hour.

Cards from the computer actuate a machine which punches the familiar dots of the Braille code into metal plates. The plates emboss the raised dots on the book pages.

The swift operation is a far cry from the Herculean labor required for the first translation of the Bible into Braille. One man worked from 1877 to 1890, hand-punching each dot into sheet metal.

Braille, introduced in 1829, was a refinement of earlier methods of reading by touch.

It's Time For Action

Three persons were injured when a tractor-trailer truck shattered their car early Wednesday at the bottom of the Route 30 hill in Chester.

From the force of the blow, the final traffic statistics could have read three killed instead of three injured.

The accident occurred about 6 a. m. Had it been some two hours later, the figures could have been more shocking, with school children among the probable victims.

The names of those involved in Wednesday's mishap are new, but the story itself is an old one. Many have been hurt at the same spot—in the vicinity of the Washington School.

Chester residents are angered and aroused. They have been in the past, too, once to the extent that a group banded together about two years ago and made a trip to the state capitol at Charleston to present the situation and offer a suggested remedy.

Their complaints and their suggestions fell on sympathetic ears at the time. State officials conducted a traffic check at the scene and followed up with new signals designed for increased safety. Since then, however, nothing else has been done. And traffic signals alone are far from the answer. A change in the highway at the danger point seems to be the one proper solution.

If nothing is done, it's only a matter of time until injuries such as those of yesterday will be turned into the traffic fatalities of tomorrow. There are too many residents of Chester and nearby communities personally concerned with a satisfactory answer to the problem for the administration at Charleston to sit back and do nothing further.

Effective Water Policy For Ohio

As long as they get results when they turn on their faucets, most Ohioans see no need to worry about where their next glass of water is coming from.

They would be astounded if they knew it was a critical problem. So much do they take water for granted they never realize it is their most valuable natural resource. The thought that water — right here in Ohio —might become so scarce in usable form as to threaten their health and happiness is as remote to them as the Sahara Desert.

Yet that is exactly what water experts have been telling them for years. There have been studies, suggestions, advice and both short — and long-range plans.

There has been action, too, on a number of fronts. The primary failing on the action side has been that it is just that — on a number of fronts, piecemeal, with a minimum of coordination and over-all thought.

THE EXPERTS say Ohio should change that and start seeing the picture as a whole. Ten of them, appointed by former Gov. C. William O'Neill as the Ohio Water Survey Committee, recommended last year that a single, powerful agency be set up to write and enforce an all-embracing water policy for the entire state.

Fortunately for the mass of uninterested citizens, some of our state leaders are interested and action appears to be forthcoming from the current administration and the 103rd General Assembly.

Gov. DiSalle has spoken repeatedly on the subject and recently drew up a 14-page statement of his views on and hopes for water development.

Sen. Danny D. Johnson (D-New Philadelphia) has written a bill to create the agency and give it the powers recommended by the survey committee.

Unfortunately, there is a disagreement between the governor and the senator which seems minor on the surface but which could become a serious barrier to a really effective job by the proposed Ohio Water Commission.

Sen. Johnson's bill would put the commission in the Department of Natural Resources with the present Division of Water as its administrative arm.

Gov. DiSalle insists the commission should be in his proposed new Department of Industrial and Economic Development. The bill now before the Legislature to set up the new department includes two sections which purport to do that.

It seems to us the senator has the weight of evidence on his side.

IN THE FIRST place, a long line of specialists who have devoted their professional lives to water control and use agree with him. Surely, the weight of their expert opinion should not be cast aside.

In the second place, as the DiSalle bill creating the new industrial department is now written, its water agency would by merely another "water advisory committee." This is in direct conflict with the idea that the time is past when advisory agencies are needed. What is needed now is an operating agency with power to do more than just study and suggest.

In the third place, a policy - making body that can put its policies into effect must have an administrative arm to do the routine work. The existing Division of Water in the Department of Natural Resources would be the logical office to perform such a function.

In the fourth place, if the new commission is to command a truly panoramic view of the state's water development, there could be no better "home" for it than the Natural Resources Department.

The commission is designed to direct the use of water for agriculture, recreation, public supply, health and flood control as well as commerce and industry. Placed in any other department than natural resources, it would be in danger of being equipped with blinders confining its view to one or another of these fields to the detriment of others. They are all equally important.

THE PROPOSED new Ohio Water Commission will not be in itself the solution to all the state's water problems. It will not be able to accomplish immediately all of the desirable goals set forth in the O'Neill committee's survey or in Gov. DiSalle's recent message.

But it will be a big — and important— first step. It is vital to the future of Ohio and Ohioans that its first step be in the right direction.

Because we are convinced Gov. DiSalle is sincere in his expressed desire for the best possible water progress in Ohio, we believe he should yield to Sen. Johnson's view.

The Ohio Water Commission should be in the Department of Natural Resources.

The Once Over

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

Here was a man who kept the faith
Who sought no cheap applause;
A dead-game fighter for the right,
And fighter for a cause.
Himself he knew not how to spare;
He sensed the killing grade
And saw Death standing in the wings,
Yet went on unafraid.

II

He lacked the "color and the smiles" –
The quips that highly rate;
(Give me the man who seeks no laughs
And strives to play it straight.)
He could have known such peace and ease
But saw war's blood and slime,
And, stricken, felt but one clear call—
"There is so little time."

"MR. DEDICATION," John Foster Dulles, while on the non - glitter side, stood out in sharp contrast to the personality-smile, vote-seeking compromisers, wobblers and wise-cracking boys who are a dime a dozen in public life. He could take the cheers or leave 'em.

He was a throwback to the sturdy pioneers who put conviction, zeal for the right and contempt for vacillation first and foremost. His personality seemed straight out of an old and revered family album showing the stalwarts of yesterday.

The stern look, turned down corners of the mouth and rimless "specs" were there. He threw off no glow, yet a fierce and constant light flamed within him. Its fuel was a deep sense of public service.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE a transition from the Man In The Dark Flannel Suit and Homburg Hat to the happy guy in Bermuda shorts, open shirt and rumpled hat, relaxed and carefree at the tiller of a sailboat, was not easy to grasp. Yet this citizen who flew the seas and continents, serving in conference halls, palaces and government headquarters of the world, was at home in the solitude of a small Lake Ontario island, free from all the trappings of dignity.

Away from law office, hectic Washington and tough missions abroad, the slapping of a tide against an old pier, the cry of a waterbird and the soft music of a breeze through the halyards meant a welcome switch from clicking typewriters, the roar of airplane motors and the hubbub of world hassels.

Traveler extraordinary, he has made the "green pastures" and the "still waters." Ended are the ordeals, burdens and search for peace. There are no speeches, debates, criticisms . . . just a soft "Well done, good and faithful servant."

A NEW YORK MAN who, on relief rolls, played the stock market for $21,000 profit was let off upon refunding most of the money. It will be strange if Washington doesn't sign him up to help balance the budget. . .

Nothing's the matter with the N.Y. Yankees that June, July and August can't cure. . . .

King Baudouin of Belgium can outdrive Ike 50 yards, says caddy. Yeah, but Ike's European drive sayed Belgium. Remember? . . .

P.K.K. says a depressed area is often a section where the factory space for workers' de luxe autos is only two-thirds full. . .

It seems even to his friends that Harry Truman could have done a little better than, "In Mr. Dulles' death we have lost a good public servant and I am as sorry as I CAN BE." Still it was less hypocritical than some of the "regrets" by dignitaries who had opposed him throughout his secretaryship.

THE MIRACLE of the Resurrection has taken place these weeks in bud and leaf and flower. The lilac in the shadow of an old barn has told the deathless story more convincingly than cathedral preachers. The gnarled apple tree by a lopsided woodshed has testified to the everlasting life.

From back porch and train window the stone has been seen rolled away and the words "He is not here; He has risen" heard.

In a patch of violets beside a stone fence has come the message, "Be not faithless but believing." Through the trees has been whispered, "A little while and ye shall not see Me; and again a little while and ye shall see Me."

An Oscar For Jimmy Hoffa

By Victor Riesel

Whatever they give as an Emmy or Oscar or Billie for the best political acting should go to Jimmy Hoffa for his Texas performance last week. Single - handedly he saved himself a tough ally, the International Longshoremen's Assn., whose 60,000 dockwallopers might have been moving into the AFL - CIO by this time after six years of expulsion.

Victor Riesel

Here's how Hoffa's Brownsville blast disrupted some of his opposition's neatest strategy. For some time now master tactician Louis Waldman, the first counsel to be known as "labor lawyer," has been negotiating with national AFL-CIO leaders on cleaning up and moving the ILA back inside the big house of labor. Many believed it was all set.

SUCH A MOVE was welcomed by national labor chiefs because it would have cut the ties between the Longshoremen and the Teamsters—a combine which could strike, clog and finally paralyze all ocean and rail freight traffic.

Finally in Puerto Rico, last February, labor's high command appointed a four-man committee to look into the ILA and report back this past week to the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Washington.

That report would have been one favoring the return of the controversial waterfront union—so immortalized in film and newsprint over the years. This was apparent in the national office of the Stage Hands Union in New York last Thursday, May 14.

That day a group of men met there for three hours. It was a long and friendly discussion, sometimes led by Louis Waldman; sometimes by its stage hands president, Dick Walsh, a member of the four-man AFL-CIO "inspection committee"; sometimes by such longshoremen chiefs as Capt. Bill Bradley, ILA president; Teddy Gleason, chief organizer; Packy Connolly, vice president, and others.

THEY ALL LEFT believing that the committee would recommend the acceptance of the waterfront men. Jim Hoffa got the message quickly from someone who reported to him on the session.

The teamster chief headed for the ILA regional convention in Brownsville. He unleashed the now famous general strike talk. Corpulent Bill Bradley trod the boards and reverently said wherever you go, we go.

Back in Washington, the AFL-CIO chiefs had some suggestions to make which can't be printed. But going back inside the AFL-CIO was not one of them.

The ILA leaders will gather in mid-July in Miami Beach for their national convention. They'll make their next move there.

Unworthy Motives

By Raymond Moley

A necessarily brief service as secretary of commerce would neither add to nor detract from Lewis Strauss' reputation as a public servant and private citizen. His status in both capacities is secure and distinguished.

But the bitter opposition to him by some senators has been based on motives that impair public confidence in the great institution they represent. That confidence has been lessened in the past few years to a deplorable degree.

At the very heart of the opposition has been the personal feeling of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

The very multiplicity of Anderson's charges casts doubt upon the strength of any of them. When a good prosecutor has a good case, he can be content to rest it upon one or very few facts. However, in this case almost every conceivable charge has been leveled against the nominee.

HIS INTEGRITY, proved in years of public affairs, has been assailed. His capacity has been challenged, despite the stark fact that the secretaryship of commerce is a relatively unimportant office. For the Senate to back such charges is to injure not Strauss but the Senate itself.

Perhaps more tact more cozening, and more flattery might have created better relations long ago when the AEC chairman and the senator were compelled to deal extensively with each other. But it should be remembered that the position of Strauss in the AEC involved immense responsibilities and exacting decisions. Not only was the security of the United States involved, but the whole future of atomic energy as a servant of mankind. Strauss labored indefatigably to promote both ends.

But other motives entered into the opposition which are easy to see. The desire of senators like Kefauver and Gore and O'Mahoney to create a government monopoly in the generation and distribution of electric power has reached the proportions of a passion. Other senators are consumed by the same zeal.

On that point, Strauss was seeking to carry out the declared policy of Congress and the President to encourage private investment to assume a larger and larger part of the cost of bringing power generated by the atom to the services of the people.

Even David Lilienthal, former chairman of the AEC and certainly no enemy of public power, favored private development. And Strauss, with his long experience in business, was well aware of the vast amounts of private investment in the hands of all sorts of Americans who might assume that cost and at once save taxpayers and prevent government monopoly in that field.

The clamor of some scientists, some commentators, many fellow travelers and their soft-headed sympathizers for the destruction of the man who assumed major responsibility for removing J. Robert Oppenheimer from access to information vital to national survival was a big factor in the opposition.

In that instance, Strauss and the other who conducted the examinations were most diligent to disclose all the facts. Those facts prove to anyone who reads the record that Oppenheimer, while not a Communist himself, was, so far as his associates and connections were concerned, guilty of incredibly bad judgment, to say the least.

In a public position involving the critical struggle between international communism and human freedom, bad judgment is as dangerous as bad intentions. No one questioned Oppenheimer's skill as a scientist. What he lacked was plain common sense.

To make matters worse, his attitude toward the development of the hydrogen bomb, a decision which is not for any scientist to make, has proved to have been a tragic mistake.

FINALLY, among senators a petty yearning to play politics by embarrassing the President has seemed to be widespread. In this case, they have been violating an unwritten rule that the President is entitled to choose his own Cabinet members unless some gross defect is present which would clearly disqualify the nominee for the job.

Only by the use of gross imaginings could anyone say that Strauss is not qualified by his experience in business to serve well in the post. The Senate even approved of Henry Wallace for secretary of commerce, although he was not only totally incapable of understanding business but was ideologically opposed to free enterprise.

Letter To Editor

In reply to a letter written by Mr. Harry Springer, which was published in your paper last week, I should like to make the following comment:

Mr. Springer is distorting the facts. He may be interested in knowing that the idea for the meeting to which he referred originated in Stratton. The meeting was held in a room adjacent to the fire station in Stratton and Mr. Springer was in attendance.

The only representatives from Irondale attending this meeting were Robert Paisley and myself, and not a total of six as Mr. Springer stated.

Long Arm Of Tyranny

By David Lawrence

Gromyko Unable To Travel Alone

The spectre of Communist imperialism pursued John Foster Dulles to his grave. Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko arranged to attend the last rites at Washington but the circumstances that preceded his departure from Geneva reveal how the monolithic system of the Soviets works even when simple amenities and international courtesies are involved.

David Lawrence

When the news of the death of the former secretary of state came, the British and the French foreign ministers had no hesitation in announcing that they would attend the funeral. Foreign Minister Gromyko was silent. He had to consult his government and it took 24 hours because Premier Khrushchev was traveling near Albania.

Finally permission came but Mr. Gromyko, who first indicated he might travel on Secretary Herter's plane, found upon inquiry that there was only one vacant seat. The Soviet foreign minister sought two extra seats for his aides. When this couldn't be arranged, Mr. Gromyko decided to go on a commercial plane. Neither the British nor French foreign secretaries had to take anyone along.

Why did the Soviet foreign minister pass up an opportunity to sit down in privacy with the foreign ministers of Britain and France and the secretary of state of the United States?

The answer is that he is not permitted to travel unaccompanied. He had to have a place for his No. 2 man. That's the Soviet method of watching everyone who occupies any post of importance under the dictator.

AS FOR THE RETURN journey to Geneva, Secretary Herter arranged to have Mr. Gromyko, together with a Soviet adviser, ride with him on his plane.

There has been some suggestion that, if the four foreign ministers could sit down together away from the large number of persons who usually attend the formal sessions, some real progress might be made in the negotiations.

Certainly on an airplane, with so few individuals present and no reporters or photographers waiting at the door, it might be imagined that the Soviet foreign minister would grab the chance for a candid discussion. But he operates under strict instructions from the Premier. He can't even go to a social function alone. He is under constant observation for, in the Soviet Union's hierarchy, nobody trusts anybody else.

Perhaps the real significance in the avoidance by Mr. Gromyko of a private session on the plane lies in the fact that the Soviet government was not yet ready for any really private confabs. They apparently had a purpose in prolonging the speechmaking.

The Soviets now say they will get down to brass tacks on Friday. They have delayed negotiations, believing the West would become impatient and that an agreement on some specific point might thereby be reached which would be sufficient to justify a summit meeting.

ONE OF THE PURPOSES in the deliberate delay also has been to give time for propagandizing behind the Iron Curtain and especially in East Germany, where the Soviet radio stations are making a big play of the idea that there is to be a peace treaty granting "independence" to the so-called German democratic republic.

The Soviet propaganda doesn't always work efficiently. The East German stations, upon hearing of the death of former Secretary Dulles, issued long tirades of abuse about him. The Soviet stations themselves were silent for a while and then gave a bit of praise to Mr. Dulles as an individual. In recounting his biography, they emphasized his career as a lawyer for large corporations — as if this could possibly have any bearing on the career being reviewed.

THIS CONTRADICTION between the East German and Soviet stations didn't last long but it illustrates the difficulty the Soviets have in co-ordinating their many outlets of comment.

Usually they delay a long time before issuing any statements on delicate subjects of international importance and in this instance there was a delay of several hours before the Moscow radio stations as to how they were to treat the news of the death of Mr. Dulles.

So, to the last, the hand of the Communist tyrant — against the spread of whose influence in the free world Mr. Dulles fought so valiantly — reached out to make sure that even in death the former secretary of state would not score any propaganda advantage in the minds of the people behind the Iron Curtain.

A Bill In Trouble

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The labor control bill, given a big sendoff by the Senate, is in sad shape now.

In the Senate on April 25 it got about the fattest endorsement any measure could hope for, short of a unanimous vote. The vote was 90-1.

Since both houses have to vote for a measure before it can become law, the Senate-passed bill went over to the House for action. There the Labor Committee held, and is still holding, hearings.

A massacre began:

1. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell wanted the Senate bill tightened up.

2. Big labor and big business both came out against it: labor because it says the bill is too tough, business because it thinks the bill isn't tough enough.

3. The 30 members of the House committee are reportedly split every which way on the kind of bill they think is needed.

So if some kind of labor control bill ever gets out of the committee for House action—chances are it won't—it's pretty certain any bill passed by the House will be different from the one the Senate blessed.

That would require House and Senate to get together and compromise on a single bill, since no bill can become law unless both houses agree on every detail.

Such a compromised agreement might be impossible to get before Congress quits this summer for the year.

Eisenhower and Mitchell want the House to include provisions left out by the Senate: to deal with blackmail picketing and secondary boycotts.

The AFL-CIO called the Senate bill a mess and a monstrosity. Its president, George Meany, said his organization would support legislation it considered appropriate for helping unions curb corruption.

But he said amendments written into the labor bill in the Senate would hurt union activity and hinder instead of encouraging democratic union procedures. The huge AFL-CIO promised a battle to get the Senate bill changed in the House.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Assn. of Manufacturers, like the AFL-CIO, have made a section by section analysis of the Senate bill.

The NAM said the Senate bill "fails woefully, in the opinion of experts, to meet the desperate need for curbing the monopoly power of union bosses." It wants unions put under antitrust laws and barred from any form of compulsory union membership. And it wants picketing and boycott bans tightened.

William Barton, the Chamber's general counsel, said his organization frankly would prefer no changes in labor law this year to seeing the Senate bill become law.

He said it would fool people into thinking an effective anticorruption measure had been passed when, he argued, such would not be true.

On top of all this James Hoffa, the Teamsters' Union president, angered Congress when he was quoted—although he later denied it—as threatening a nationwide strike if Congress passed a labor control bill he didn't like.

Aid To Braille

Electronic wizardry is the newest aid to Louis Braille's 130-year-old system of printing for the blind.

A high-speed computer has been adapted to convert English into Braille. The giant mechanical brain transcribes a 300-page book in an hour.

Cards from the computer actuate a machine which punches the familiar dots of the Braille code into metal plates. The plates emboss the raised dots on the book pages.

The swift operation is a far cry from the Herculean labor required for the first translation of the Bible into Braille. One man worked from 1877 to 1890, hand-punching each dot into sheet metal.

Braille, introduced in 1829, was a refinement of earlier methods of reading by touch.

Hassle Over Key Tax Bill

Senate's Session Marked By Darkness, Confusion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic-dominated Ohio Senate Wednesday night put on a shouting spectacle of confusion which few people saw—because the Senate chamber was plunged into darkness when the light switch was thrown off.

Milling — sometimes cursing—Republicans screamed futilely to high heaven as they stumbled through the darkness in the unbelievable climax to a day-long battle.

The Senate, scheduled to meet at 2:30 p.m., DST, finally met almost eight hours late — at 10:25 p.m. Within three minutes, the Senate was adjourned in Stygian darkness and complete confusion.

None of the legislative veterans could remember a similar set of circumstances which included attempts by the Senate sergeant at arms to eject senators and at least four newsmen from the darkened chamber.

The "clear - the - House" order came from Senate Clerk Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland.

The whole bitter hassle was over Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's bill to impose a tax increase of 96 million dollars in the next two years on Ohio corporations. Democrats were convinced up until 90 minutes before the scheduled start of the Senate session they had locked up the needed 17 votes to pass the tax measure.

But, according to DiSalle, Sen. Julius J. Petrash (D-Cuyahoga) backed down on a promise to vote for the corporation franchise tax bill. Petrash hotly denied he had broken his word: "I only promised to vote for it if (Senate Majority Leader Frank W.) King had the 17 votes needed to pass it."

The hunt for the 17th vote to replace Petrash's went on through the afternoon and early evening. DiSalle called Sen. Tennyson Guyer (R-Hancock) to his office in an unsuccessful attempt to get him to vote for the bill.

Finally, Republicans and Democrats agreed to postpone the opening of the session until mid-evening.

At 10:25 p.m., the Senate met, prayer was offered by the chaplain, the journal of the previous day was read and Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey recognized Sen. Fred L. Hoffman (R-Hamilton).

Hoffman, obviously attempting to make a permanent record of the fact the corporation tax bill was on Wednesday's calendar, moved that the calendar be reprinted in the day's journal.

By that time, Senate Majority Leader King (D-Lucas) was on his feet shouting for adjournment.

Donahey immediately pounded the gavel, held the Hoffman motion out of order, declared the three - minute session adjourned and strode out of the chamber through a side exit. In his hasty departure, he passed within a few feet of the governor who was in the Senate gallery.

Donahey left while Hoffman and Sen. William H. Deddens, another Cincinnati Republican, were still trying to appeal the Donahey ruling that the Hoffman motion was out of order.

Then the lights went out.

Deddens immediately ascended the rostrum and, in a rump session, accused Donahey of "refusing" to preside over the Senate and attempted to name Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) as presiding officer.

The rump session came to nought.

Hassle Over Key Tax Bill

Senate's Session Marked By Darkness, Confusion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic-dominated Ohio Senate Wednesday night put on a shouting spectacle of confusion which few people saw—because the Senate chamber was plunged into darkness when the light switch was thrown off.

Milling — sometimes cursing—Republicans screamed futilely to high heaven as they stumbled through the darkness in the unbelievable climax to a day-long battle.

The Senate, scheduled to meet at 2:30 p.m., DST, finally met almost eight hours late — at 10:25 p.m. Within three minutes, the Senate was adjourned in Stygian darkness and complete confusion.

None of the legislative veterans could remember a similar set of circumstances which included attempts by the Senate sergeant at arms to eject senators and at least four newsmen from the darkened chamber.

The "clear - the - House" order came from Senate Clerk Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland.

The whole bitter hassle was over Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's bill to impose a tax increase of 96 million dollars in the next two years on Ohio corporations. Democrats were convinced up until 90 minutes before the scheduled start of the Senate session they had locked up the needed 17 votes to pass the tax measure.

But, according to DiSalle, Sen. Julius J. Petrash (D-Cuyahoga) backed down on a promise to vote for the corporation franchise tax bill. Petrash hotly denied he had broken his word: "I only promised to vote for it if (Senate Majority Leader Frank W.) King had the 17 votes needed to pass it."

The hunt for the 17th vote to replace Petrash's went on through the afternoon and early evening. DiSalle called Sen. Tennyson Guyer (R-Hancock) to his office in an unsuccessful attempt to get him to vote for the bill.

Finally, Republicans and Democrats agreed to postpone the opening of the session until mid-evening.

At 10:25 p.m., the Senate met, prayer was offered by the chaplain, the journal of the previous day was read and Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey recognized Sen. Fred L. Hoffman (R-Hamilton).

Hoffman, obviously attempting to make a permanent record of the fact the corporation tax bill was on Wednesday's calendar, moved that the calendar be reprinted in the day's journal.

By that time, Senate Majority Leader King (D-Lucas) was on his feet shouting for adjournment.

Donahey immediately pounded the gavel, held the Hoffman motion out of order, declared the three - minute session adjourned and strode out of the chamber through a side exit. In his hasty departure, he passed within a few feet of the governor who was in the Senate gallery.

Donahey left while Hoffman and Sen. William H. Deddens, another Cincinnati Republican, were still trying to appeal the Donahey ruling that the Hoffman motion was out of order.

Then the lights went out.

Deddens immediately ascended the rostrum and, in a rump session, accused Donahey of "refusing" to preside over the Senate and attempted to name Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) as presiding officer.

The rump session came to nought.

Slamming Door Scrambles Names Of City's Veterans

Two city employes are busy today for the second time straightening up tiny individual plastic plates which list the names of about 4,000 East Liverpool men and women who served in World War II.

It's part of the annual refurbishing of the Honor Roll Board in front of City Hall in preparation for Memorial Day services. But this year the job is being done for a second time — thanks to a stuck door that had to be slammed to close it.

The public sees the names through a series of glass windows in the front of the big wooden memorial. To reach the plastic plates and align them properly, George Fone and Fred Kane of the city electrical department opened up doors in the rear on which the names are mounted.

Each end of the plastic plate slips under a thin strip of wood, which holds it in place. When they finished straightening up the plates a few days ago, they found the door was stuck and had to be slammed to be closed properly.

They slammed it. The names flew awry. So hundreds of the little name plates are being straightened up again today.

Contracts Total $9,398

Trash Truck Ordered At Midland

Midland Council Wednesday evening let two contracts totaling $9,398 for a new garbage and rubbish truck, awarded one for surfacing Railroad Ave. and referred bids for tree care for further study.

The order for the Garwood load packer was awarded to the Ateco Equipment Co. of Turtle Creek, Pa., for $5,600. The truck's chassis will be bought from the Midland Auto Sales for $3,798.

Migliore Ford Sales submitted a bid of $3,900 for the chassis. Both auto dealers submitted bids for both the body and chassis.

—:—

CONTRACTS FOR resurfacing Railroad Ave., from 10th to 12th Sts., was awarded to the Inter-State Aniesite Corp. of Concordville, Pa., for $16,025.95. It was the low bid.

The Rochester Coal, Trucking & Contracting Co. of Monaca asked $16,410; H. R. Allen Co. of Beaver, $17,805, and the Beaver Asphalt Paving & Construction of New Brighton, $18,842.50.

Three bids for pruning, trimming and spraying trees and removing trees and stumps were given to Atty. Robert Masters solicitor, and R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, for study.

PRICES submitted were for man hours and use of equipment. Two bidders remarked that American elm trees in Lincoln Park are dying of the Dutch elm disease, and will need spraying in the spring of 1960.

Burgess Eli Corak reported that L. J. Curran, Pittsburgh district engineer for the State Highway Department, told him by letter that Midland Ave., a main route, will be maintained.

Corak reported that both Wood lane and Railroad Aves. have been rejected for improvements with funds from the state gasoline tax. Curran, according to Corak, said the two streets remain alleys.

Council changed the names of the two streets from alleys to avenues to be eligible for a share of the gasoline taxes for improvements, as other cities have done.

FOLLOWING his report, Council accepted the burgess' recommendation to send a letter to Gov. David Lawrence, condemning Curran's opinion, and reporting that the borough is not getting the service it should receive. The letter is to include names of councilmen and borough officers. Council approved the motion by Councilman Joe D'Alesio.

A bill from the Rochester Coal, Trucking & Contracting Co., for partial payment of $9,500 for surfacing in Midland Heights, was approved on a motion by Councilman Raymond Presutti. Some $2,835.60 remains to be paid. Partial payment was made to receive at 1 per cent discount.

Steebner, engineer, told councilmen, he is preparing specifications for street work in Plan K and plans to open bids at the Council meeting June 24.

The Beaver Trust Co. was granted permission to cut curbing on Midland Ave. for a drive-in facilities.

—:—

AMERICAN Legion Post 481 invited the burgess and councilmen to join in the Memorial Day parade Saturday.

On a request of Councilman Lester Trainer, Steve Germusa, president, appointed additional help for Trainer in handling traffic and parking complaints. He appointed himself, Councilmen Presutti, Sgt. William Anusich and Sgt. Vincent D'Itri of the police department.

Housing Plans Given Council

Jack Wilson of Morris Knowles, Inc., Pittsburgh planning engineers, reported to Midland councilmen Wednesday night on the second phase—housing—in the borough's comprehensive master planning project.

The report was made after Council's regular session in the Borough Building.

He described housing conditions in Midland of the past and present and offered ideas for future housing. He said that in the western section of the borough, many houses need repairs.

Dilapidated housing can be corrected through a building code which Midland does not have, he said. A number of houses are without sufficient toilets and baths. And some dwellings have been built back of business establishments.

Building in Midland has been slow with peaks represented by multiple unit dwellings of Midland Ave. apartments and Hillcrest Manor. He said building of single dwelling units should be encouraged.

He told councilmen that "good housing conditions are the backbone of the community, good housing creates good living conditions and poor housing can effect a town economically."

In the future, the borough must find a way to renew dilapidated housing and provide suitable areas for lots to attract those who wish to have new homes. The demand for new homes is evident from housing developments appearing in the area, he added.

He will report again to Council June 24. Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, and Anthony Martell of the Borough Planning Commission were present. Horace Gorman, a Morris Knowles engineer, accompanied Wilson.

The traffic situation and ways of getting area residents interested in enforcing existing regulations and endorsing stronger measures were discussed at a meeting of the Glenmoor Area Improvement Association Wednesday night at the fire station.

The third and final reading was given the by-laws and constitution. The group voted to renew its state charter, according to Richard Mattern, secretary.

Replies were received from Rep. Clarence Wetzel and Sen. Arthur Blake on letters sent them requesting support of proposed House Bill 780 which would defer residents of townships from paying municipal income taxes.

Wetzel told the group that the bill probably will not go anywhere in this session as it still is in committee and Blake said he would give the bill "serious consideration" if it is brought to the floor.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: "Forget the heel" is easy to say — but when you're in love, what do you do?

The problem: I got a divorce—he didn't. He tells me he doesn't care one thing about his wife but he must stay with her until their youngest daughter is married.

When he was in a financial bind I loaned him money. I haven't seen a penny of it back. I've given him 10 years of my life and passed up two good chances to get married.

I've sat alone night after night while he took his wife to country club affairs. Little does she know the car he's driving belongs to me. Last month they had a 20th wedding anniversary party. I was so miserable I could have blown my brains out.

The only ray of hope is this: Since we met he has stopped playing around, and I know he's completely mine. I'm sure he loves me. What to do?—D.P.

Dear D.P.: He's stopped playing around? I have news, Lady; what do you think he's doing with you? The best advice I can give is found in the three opening words of your letter. Please check.

Marriage Prospector

Dear Ann: I'm a bachelor, age 30, with a good job, a fair bank account, a paid-for house and I'm not hard to look at. I'm thinking seriously of asking a certain young lady to marry me.

I'm not head over heels in love but I've decided to make a selection before the first half of this year is gone. This girl is the best prospect in sight.

I'm viewing marriage with an objective and practical eye. She's 23, a college graduate, loves kids (so do I) and above all, she's sensible. I've told her I'm not nuts about her but she says it doesn't matter because she's nut enough about me to make up for both of us.

Does this sound like it could be a good marriage?—ZANZIBAR.

(P.S.: Have you noticed the pickin's are getting worse every year?)—Z.

Dear Zanzibar: The pickin's aren't getting worse — you're just getting more particular.

If you've leveled with this girl and she's willing, then go ahead. You may be one of those guys who isn't capable of going nuts over anybody. Lasting love is a developmental thing and the fact that a "sensible" girl appeals to you indicates you have some sense yourself. Another point in your favor is you didn't mention her dimensions. Bravo and good luck!

Listless Fiancee

Dear Ann: Our son who is 24 was engaged three weeks ago. We met his fiancee for the first time when he brought her home for a weekend.

She's 19, says she doesn't know anything about housework or cooking and can't even make a bed. I don't understand this because she comes from a middle-class family with eight children. I picked up after her constantly. She never once offered to help in the kitchen or set the table.

She got up anywhere from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and waited for me to serve her breakfast. When I suggested she spend one afternoon shopping with me so she could see the stores, she said she didn't feel well and went back to bed.

The girl has no manners and she's constantly smoothing his hair or snuggling up to him in the presence of others.

Our son met her in a distant city when he roomed with her aunt. We fear he was just lonely and will regret it if he marries her. What do you think?—MRS. E.Y.

Dear E. Y.: Your son is 24 years of age. If this is his choice, then there's nothing you can or should say.

From your description, the girl sounds like very poor wife material. But I suspect there's more to this situation than meets the eye. A 19-year-old who has so little energy is more than just shiftless and lazy — she's ill and should see a doctor.

A normally healthy young girl, meeting her future in-laws for the first time, surly would put her best foot forward, if she could. I suspect she's not up to par.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Discovery Made Which May Mean Insulin Capsules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University biochemist has come up with a chemical discovery that may pave the way for diabetics to take insulin in capsule form.

Currently, insulin has to be injected into the muscles or blood stream. When taken by mouth, the insulin, a kind of protein, breaks down in the small intestine before it reaches the blood stream. Once broken down, insulin molecules are ineffective.

Dr. Richard O. Moore, a director of biochemical research at Ohio State, developed a chemical inhibitor which halts the digestive process long enough for the insulin to pass into the blood stream without breaking down. The insulin reduces excessive blood sugar.

The announcement said further studies must be conducted with animals to determine any possible ill effects before human clinical tests are made.

Ex-Scout Leader Cited For Moral Offenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prosecutor Earl W. Allison says a former Boy Scout leader in suburban Grove City committed moral offenses against members of his troop, then made them take the Scout's oath that they would not tell on him.

The man, Lynn Fisher, 38, has been found legally sane by officials of Lima State Hospital, where he was sent for observation after pleading guilty to the morals charge in court here. He'll be taken before the court again for sentencing.

Thought, Talked In Big Terms

Dulles Showed Confidence In 'Sailing Ship Of State'

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles thought in big terms and often talked in big terms.

He did not underestimate himself. He had, and radiated, a serene confidence that the ship of state would sail well if he was in charge of the navigating.

"When is Dulles going to quit?" was a question frequently put to State Department correspondents in the middle years of Dulles' regime.

"When they carry him out in a coffin," was the usual answer, as accurate as it was callous.

Dulles didn't quit until he knew he was too ill to go on. And even from his sickbed he continued to counsel President Eisenhower, who visited him frequently, and State Department officials who also came to see him.

Dulles came to power—and it was real, H-bomb era power that he wielded, not just advice to the White House—on a tide of optimism.

Think back to 1953. The Korean War was still going on, to nobody's satisfaction. Harry Truman's secretary of state, Dean Acheson, was under attack from all sides. The cold war was smoldering like an imminent volcano. It could have been argued—and was—that the time had come for a change.

Dulles was in the thick of the 1952 presidential campaign. He blasted the Truman-Acheson policy as negative and even immoral. He said "containment" of communism behind its existent borders was not enough. There had to be, he said, a new dynamic approach. And he was eager to supply it.

Political sides may change but the cruel facts of life go on. Impartial observers have noted no great shift of American foreign policy since Dulles took office. With the one big exception that, since 1953, no American soldier has been involved in a shooting war.

There have been near misses. Dulles has been assailed by Democratic critics for "brinkmanship"—for bringing his country dangerously close to war. Some of these same critics have accused him of dithering—of failure to provide the firm foreign policy he once promised.

This is nothing new. No secretary of state within memory has escaped the fate of being damned if he did and damned if he didn't.

Dulles' ambition, dating back to his youth, was to be secretary of state. He didn't make it until the age when most men are thinking about retirement. The word retirement never seemed to cross Dulles' mind. He was always thinking ahead, planning ahead. He knew, naturally, that someday he would have to turn over the reins to someone else. But he wasn't going to until he had to.

And when the time came he hand-picked his successor, former Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter, who had picked up what he could from Dulles—not always a man to share his thinking with others — as undersecretary of state.

Dulles seemed to thrive on crises. And his six years of tenure gave him much to thrive on. The Communist offensive appeared to slacken at times but always pressed onward—to new gains in Indochina, the Near East and elsewhere.

Also it was Dulles—more than anyone else, probably—who had the job of holding the Western alliance together against the constant Red threat.

This didn't always make him a popular figure in Europe, any more than it did in all circles at home. He came frequently under attack in Britain, for instance, especially when this country put its foot down on the British - French-Israeli invasion of the Suez Canal Zone.

Dulles was not the most modest of men but he bore up under this and many another tornado of criticism. As a highly successful international lawyer, he was not accustomed to failure—or even to acknowledging it when it happened. Besides, he had the unswerving support of his boss, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who repeatedly called him the world's foremost expert on international affairs.

By appointment of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Dulles served in the Senate for a time before becoming secretary of state. He decided against running for election to the post but changed his mind—to his later regret—and lost resoundingly.

But to achieve his ambition, being secretary of state, Dulles did not need to run for office.

He did campaign for Eisenhower in 1952 and it was no surprise to anybody when Eisenhower announced Dulles as his first cabinet appointee.

Dulles loved his job, worked at it day and night, traveled some 100,000 miles a year.

Of him it could be said, to use the Woodrow Wilson campaign slogan: "He kept us out of war."

It is for the future to determine whether his policies, frequently taking into account the risk of war, were as sound as he and Eisenhower thought they were.

President Asks Pentagon About Keeping Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly wants a quick Pentagon recommendation on whether to keep the Nike-Hercules or Bomarc missiles — or both — as antiaircraft weapons.

Senate sources who reported this today said the President had instructed Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy to back up his recommendation with solid evidence.

The sources declined to be quoted by name. One of them said Eisenhower's instructions to McElroy stemmed from a meeting Tuesday between the President and GOP congressional leaders. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) was quoted then as telling Eisenhower that the Senate would "resolve the matter for you" if the President didn't act this week.

The Army is backing its short range Nike-Hercules missile, now a mainstay of the aerial continental defenses. The Air Force is pushing its Bomarc, a missile with a range described as something over 400 miles.

Congressional critics have charged that there is costly waste in developing the two missiles as rivals in the air defense program.

Plans Dropped To Seek New Trial For Boy, 15

CLEVELAND (AP)—Plans have been dropped to seek a new trial for a 15-year-old Garfield Heights boy who is serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary for the slaying of Edward Craven, 62, a railroad yardmaster, in Youngstown last November.

Richard Harter Jr. entered the penitentiary this week after pleading guilty to second degree murder. His father, Richard Harter Sr., had said he wanted a new trial for first degree murder in a gamble to keep his son out of the penitentiary.

The father said Wednesday, however, that he has decided against asking for a new trial and will place the case before Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and appropriate administrative agencies.

'Habit' Works Wonders In Rearing Child

When have you heard or seen the word "habit" in what you have read on rearing children? This word and the concept it implies have almost disappeared. Habit is the tendency to do more often what has been done a number of times before with satisfaction. The more often the satisfying act has been repeated, the more likely it is to become a permanent way of doing. "Emotions" is the magic word now. While the notions of pleasure and fun, satisfaction and discomfort, are usually implied, the word is used vaguely or under such labels as frustration, conflict, emotional disturbance, love, affection and security.

By Garry Meyers

To different persons, these terms have widely different meanings. Often they are accepted as a form of magic only the select can know about.

—:—

YET THERE need be no conflict between the meaning of these terms and habit growth.

You are trying to train your tot in good toilet habits. You want him to co-operate with the least possible resistance and the greatest possible satisfaction.

Once he begins to perform as you wish him to perform you give him repeated practice. You try to see that there are no exceptions to this desirable repetition. You try to help him find satisfaction from his co-operation. You are happy when he acquires desirable toilet habits.

Remembering all you have heard or read about the emotional climate of the family and this child's relation to you, you try to provide him with lots of understanding, love and feelings of security, all of which help in his learning good toilet habits.

USUALLY WHEN you try to substitute good habits for bad ones you can't easily make the early performance of the good habit satisfying.

Suppose your eight - year - old has had the habit of dawdling at bedtime. Announcing a regular bedtime hour to him, you may need to set an effective penalty if he is late to bed, such as requiring him to sit unamused, doing nothing, for an hour or so.

His early conformity will hardly be very satisfying to him, but if exercised without exception for several evenings it may grow less dissatisfying.

With sufficient repetition, without exception or doubt, he may reach the point when going to bed at a regular time will become a rather satisfying habit.

Braves Retain 3-Game Lead After Nipping Pirates, 4-3

Giants Rip Cards; Cubs Lose At LA

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

After the opening game this looked like it might be the year Robin Roberts completed his comeback, but now it's already a long, long season for Philadelphia's right-handed veteran.

Roberts was The Associated Press comeback-of-the-year choice in the National League last season when he won 17 games for the last place Phillies. When he beat Cincinnati's Don Newcombe 2-1 opening day after a five-inning no-hit duel, there were thoughts of the old Roberts, who had been a 20-game winner for six consecutive seasons before becoming the NL's biggest loser in 1956 and 1957.

Now he's 2-4, clobbered once more by the home run ball as he lost his third in a row Wednesday night at Cincinnati 10-4. The club he had held hitless for five innings on opening day chased him within four innings with eight hits, three of them homers, and six runs.

That victory hoisted the Reds into a fifth place tie with the Chicago Cubs, beaten 4-1 at Los Angeles. First place Milwaukee retained a three-game lead by beating Pittsburgh 4-3 after San Francisco's second place Giants peppered St. Louis 9-4 in an afternoon game.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox closed within one game of first place Cleveland again as Early Wynn gained a 5-1 decision over the Indians. Washington beat Baltimore 6-0 behind Camilo Pascual's two-hitter, and New York defeated Boston 3-2. The Detroit at Kansas City game was rained out.

Weirton Meets Princeton In First Round

PARKERSBURG (AP) — State tournament veterans East Bank and Weirton went against Philippi and Princeton, respectively, in the opening round of the high school baseball championship play - off here today.

East Bank won the title two years ago and was seeking to make it three in a row for Kanawha Valley schools. Stonewall Jackson of Charleston, beaten in earlier tourney play by East Bank, won the 1958 championship.

Weirton, unbeaten against state competition, took a 15-2 record against Princeton. The Tigers from Mercer County had won 10 straight games after three defeats to start the season.

East Bank had a 22-1 record, while unheralded Philippi took a 12-1 standing into the championship tournament.

The Pioneers of Coach Joe Butta also could rack up the third major high school title of this school year for Kanawha Valley competitors. South Charleston won the State Class AAA basketball crown and Dunbar won the track championship.

The title game at Scott Field in South Parkersburg will be played tomorrow afternoon.

Stengel Gives Terry Rabbit For Good Luck

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Terry, right-hander acquired from Kansas City, will have something more than a rabbit's foot going for him when he pitches tonight for the New York Yankees. He'll have a whole rabbit.

"The way we're going — you know you're with a tail-end club now — you'll need some luck," Manager Casey Stengel said when he told Terry he would pitch against Baltimore tonight.

Stengel stepped over to his locker, pulled out a stuffed white rabbit and handed it to Terry.

Casey said, "Somebody sent it to me. Thought it might do some good."

Pascual Allows Orioles Two Hits In 6-0 Shutout

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the way Cleveland has managed to hold the American League lead is a surprise, imagine where the Indians might be if they could shake loose from Chicago's White Sox, the club they have a tough time beating, and Early Wynn, the guy they can't beat at all.

Half of Cleveland's 14 defeats through the first quarter of the schedule have been from the second place White Sox. And three of those have been nailed by Wynn, who has won seven in a row from the Injuns since they traded him away a year and a half ago.

Cleveland's just a game in front after Wynn (7-3) and the White Sox went to work again Wednesday for a 5-1 victory over the Indians.

Baltimore, the only other club with an edge (3-2) over Cleveland this year, missed a chance to close in when Washington's Camilo Pascual beat the third place Orioles 6-0 Wednesday night with a two-hitter.

Last place New York squeezed past Boston 3-2 in the other AL game. Detroit was rained out at Kansas City.

In the National League, first place Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 4-3, San Francisco held onto second by whipping St. Louis 9-4, Los Angeles took third with a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati ripped Philadelphia 10-4.

Whistling Winds In Seals Stadium Benefiting Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sneaky with curves and a change of pace, the whistling winds at Seals Stadium seem to benefit the San Francisco Giants.

How can the wind be partisan? First, the San Francisco fielders have become more accustomed to the capricious breezes which blow predominantly toward the left-field fence.

Second, the winds aid right-handed batters and these predominate in the Giants' batting order.

Right - handers slammed four home runs Wednesday as the second place Giants beat St. Louis 9-4. Three of them might not have gone if it hadn't been for the wind. The fourth, by Orlando Cepeda, traveled so fast it was over the left field wall before the wind caught up with it.

Although the Weather Bureau said the highest recorded velocity was 30 m.p.h., it conceded the winds may have been stronger at Seals Stadium.

Four fly balls were dropped in the outfield — two by San Francisco fielders and two by Cardinal fly chasers.

Disappearing Act Pulled By Cus D'Amato

NEW YORK (AP) — Where is Cus D'Amato?

The man who holds the answer whether Floyd Patterson will defend his heavyweight boxing title against Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in New York June 25 as scheduled has done another one of his disappearing acts.

Bill Rosensohn, Cus' hand-picked promoter, says the fight will be held as advertised or there will be law suits.

But Rosensohn received a telephone call from D'Amato Wednesday and quoted Patterson's manager as saying he was thinking of moving the fight from New York.

D'Amato's mysterious view of the fight started after the New York State Athletic Commission denied the application of Harry Davidow, his long-time pal, to become the 10 per cent American manager of Johansson. Cus had recommended Davidow to the unbeaten Swedish fighter.

Reds Win Second Straight At Home

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds definitely mean it when they say "there's no place like home."

They came in here Tuesday night with a four-game losing streak and a dismal road trip record of 6-12. They promptly got back into winning stride and Wednesday night they regained the batting powess that had made them the scourge of pitchers earlier in the season.

The result was a 10-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phils. It was the first time since May 2 that the Reds had scored as many as 10 runs in one game.

As it now stands, the Reds have a 13-7 record in games played at Crosley Field but on the road their mark stands at only 6-15. That road record gives all the answers to why the Cincinnatians still are no better than tied for fifth place.

Another encouraging sign Wednesday night was the second straight route-going performance by a Cincinnati pitcher.

Bob Purkey did it. He gave up 10 hits to the Phils but never was in any great trouble except in the fourth and ninth innings.

The home runs were two by Frank Robinson and one each by Vada Pinson and Ed Bailey. Pinson also had a double and a triple but he couldn't quite get the single that would have given him the hitting cycle for the game.

The Reds clipped Robin Roberts for two runs in the first on Pinson's double and two singles. Roberts also committed a balk which helped set up the second run.

Then in the third, Pinson and Robinson each blasted home runs. Bailey got his to start the fourth and Roberts bowed out after giving up a single to Roy McMillan. Pinson's triple off Curt Simmons scored McMillan.

That came after the Phils had nicked Purkey for three runs in their half on a single by Ed Bouchee, doubles by Harry Anderson and Willie Jones and a single by George Anderson.

Purkey singled home two runs in the fifth and Robinson got his second homer in the sixth. In the eighth, it was Purkey's triple off the scoreboard that started the final Redleg run on its way. He scored on an infield out.

In the ninth a double by Harry Anderson and a single by Jones gave the Phils their final run.

Joe Nuxhall, who has been sidelined with an ailing arm, pitches for the Reds tonight against Jim Owens.

Weirton Meets Princeton In First Round

PARKERSBURG (AP) — State tournament veterans East Bank and Weirton went against Philippi and Princeton, respectively, in the opening round of the high school baseball championship play - off here today.

East Bank won the title two years ago and was seeking to make it three in a row for Kanawha Valley schools. Stonewall Jackson of Charleston, beaten in earlier tourney play by East Bank, won the 1958 championship.

Weirton, unbeaten against state competition, took a 15-2 record against Princeton. The Tigers from Mercer County had won 10 straight games after three defeats to start the season.

East Bank had a 22-1 record, while unheralded Philippi took a 12-1 standing into the championship tournament.

The Pioneers of Coach Joe Butta also could rack up the third major high school title of this school year for Kanawha Valley competitors. South Charleston won the State Class AAA basketball crown and Dunbar won the track championship.

The title game at Scott Field in South Parkersburg will be played tomorrow afternoon.

Stengel Gives Terry Rabbit For Good Luck

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Terry, right-hander acquired from Kansas City, will have something more than a rabbit's foot going for him when he pitches tonight for the New York Yankees. He'll have a whole rabbit.

"The way we're going — you know you're with a tail-end club now — you'll need some luck," Manager Casey Stengel said when he told Terry he would pitch against Baltimore tonight.

Stengel stepped over to his locker, pulled out a stuffed white rabbit and handed it to Terry.

Casey said, "Somebody sent it to me. Thought it might do some good."

Pascual Allows Orioles Two Hits In 6-0 Shutout

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the way Cleveland has managed to hold the American League lead is a surprise, imagine where the Indians might be if they could shake loose from Chicago's White Sox, the club they have a tough time beating, and Early Wynn, the guy they can't beat at all.

Half of Cleveland's 14 defeats through the first quarter of the schedule have been from the second place White Sox. And three of those have been nailed by Wynn, who has won seven in a row from the Injuns since they traded him away a year and a half ago.

Cleveland's just a game in front after Wynn (7-3) and the White Sox went to work again Wednesday for a 5-1 victory over the Indians.

Baltimore, the only other club with an edge (3-2) over Cleveland this year, missed a chance to close in when Washington's Camilo Pascual beat the third place Orioles 6-0 Wednesday night with a two-hitter.

Last place New York squeezed past Boston 3-2 in the other AL game. Detroit was rained out at Kansas City.

In the National League, first place Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 4-3, San Francisco held onto second by whipping St. Louis 9-4, Los Angeles took third with a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati ripped Philadelphia 10-4.

Whistling Winds In Seals Stadium Benefiting Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sneaky with curves and a change of pace, the whistling winds at Seals Stadium seem to benefit the San Francisco Giants.

How can the wind be partisan? First, the San Francisco fielders have become more accustomed to the capricious breezes which blow predominantly toward the left-field fence.

Second, the winds aid right-handed batters and these predominate in the Giants' batting order.

Right - handers slammed four home runs Wednesday as the second place Giants beat St. Louis 9-4. Three of them might not have gone if it hadn't been for the wind. The fourth, by Orlando Cepeda, traveled so fast it was over the left field wall before the wind caught up with it.

Although the Weather Bureau said the highest recorded velocity was 30 m.p.h., it conceded the winds may have been stronger at Seals Stadium.

Four fly balls were dropped in the outfield — two by San Francisco fielders and two by Cardinal fly chasers.

Disappearing Act Pulled By Cus D'Amato

NEW YORK (AP) — Where is Cus D'Amato?

The man who holds the answer whether Floyd Patterson will defend his heavyweight boxing title against Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in New York June 25 as scheduled has done another one of his disappearing acts.

Bill Rosensohn, Cus' hand-picked promoter, says the fight will be held as advertised or there will be law suits.

But Rosensohn received a telephone call from D'Amato Wednesday and quoted Patterson's manager as saying he was thinking of moving the fight from New York.

D'Amato's mysterious view of the fight started after the New York State Athletic Commission denied the application of Harry Davidow, his long-time pal, to become the 10 per cent American manager of Johansson. Cus had recommended Davidow to the unbeaten Swedish fighter.

Reds Win Second Straight At Home

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds definitely mean it when they say "there's no place like home."

They came in here Tuesday night with a four-game losing streak and a dismal road trip record of 6-12. They promptly got back into winning stride and Wednesday night they regained the batting powess that had made them the scourge of pitchers earlier in the season.

The result was a 10-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phils. It was the first time since May 2 that the Reds had scored as many as 10 runs in one game.

As it now stands, the Reds have a 13-7 record in games played at Crosley Field but on the road their mark stands at only 6-15. That road record gives all the answers to why the Cincinnatians still are no better than tied for fifth place.

Another encouraging sign Wednesday night was the second straight route-going performance by a Cincinnati pitcher.

Bob Purkey did it. He gave up 10 hits to the Phils but never was in any great trouble except in the fourth and ninth innings.

The home runs were two by Frank Robinson and one each by Vada Pinson and Ed Bailey. Pinson also had a double and a triple but he couldn't quite get the single that would have given him the hitting cycle for the game.

The Reds clipped Robin Roberts for two runs in the first on Pinson's double and two singles. Roberts also committed a balk which helped set up the second run.

Then in the third, Pinson and Robinson each blasted home runs. Bailey got his to start the fourth and Roberts bowed out after giving up a single to Roy McMillan. Pinson's triple off Curt Simmons scored McMillan.

That came after the Phils had nicked Purkey for three runs in their half on a single by Ed Bouchee, doubles by Harry Anderson and Willie Jones and a single by George Anderson.

Purkey singled home two runs in the fifth and Robinson got his second homer in the sixth. In the eighth, it was Purkey's triple off the scoreboard that started the final Redleg run on its way. He scored on an infield out.

In the ninth a double by Harry Anderson and a single by Jones gave the Phils their final run.

Joe Nuxhall, who has been sidelined with an ailing arm, pitches for the Reds tonight against Jim Owens.

Indians Return Home Tonight After Split With Chicago

Wynn Tosses 5-Hitter To Beat Tribe's Bell

CLEVELAND (AP)—The best bet for the Cleveland Indians is to play at night and drop the Chicago White Sox from their schedule.

Returning home for a three-game series with the Kansas City Athletics starting tonight, the Tribe still maintains a one-game lead over second-place Chicago.

The Indians have won 24 and lost 14. Here's the rub, though:

Of those 14 losses, half have been to the Chicago White Sox. Cleveland has won three of the 10 meetings. During the daytime, the Tribe is no better than a .500 club, splitting 24 games. At night, however, the record is 12-2, both losses coming at the hands of the Baltimore Orioles.

The latest loss came in Chicago Wednesday, 5-1, with Early Wynn turning on his former mates for the seventh straight time since he was traded away before the start of the 1958 season.

Earl Torgeson and Sherman Lollar hit homers off Gary Bell, who went the distance for the Indians to suffer his third loss in seven decisions. He permitted eight hits.

The Indians got only five hits off Wynn, who was relieved by Gerry Staley with two on and one out in the ninth inning. Staley retired Minnie Minoso and Rocky Colavito to end the game.

Consecutive doubles by catcher Ed Fitzgerald and Minoso in the first inning produced the lone run for Cleveland. Bell nursed the 1-0 lead until the fifth.

A walk to John Callison, and Bubba Phillips' double—both with two out—tied the score 1-1. In the sixth, Nellie Fox led off with a single, was sacrificed to second and rode home on Larry Doby's line drive single to right. Torgeson then made it 4-1 with his home run into the right center stands.

Lollar's eighth inning home run finished the scoring.

(Jim (Mudcat) Grant (3-0) pitches for Cleveland tonight against Kansas City's Ray Herbert (4-3).

Bowdry Rips Anthony For Unanimous Nod

CHICAGO (AP)— A 22-year-old slasher from St. Louis, Jesse Bowdry, has vaulted into top contention for venerable Archie Moore's world light heavyweight title.

Bowdry took apart the erstwhile No. 1 light heavyweight contender, Tony Anthony, for a unanimous decision in a nationally televised 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

In a brutal but one-sided battle, Bowdry gave a tremendous boost to his No. 7 ranking by belting Anthony, a 3-1 favorite, all over the ring.

CINCINNATI'S Gus Bell (right) waits at home plate to greet Frank Robinson after he hit his second home run of the game Wednesday night at Crosley Field. Two other round-trippers were hit by the Reds as they defeated Philadelphia, 10-4. (UPI Telephoto)

Coe Is Loser In Big Upset

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Five Americans went into the fifth round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today with the expects forecasting that at least one of them will make the final.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, captain of the American Walker Cup team, made the flat prediction:

"I am sure one of our boys will be shooting for the title Saturday."

Coe, one of the favorites for the title, lost to Murray Lawrence of England by one hole Wednesday in the big upset of the tournament.

But three of his fellow Walker cuppers were still in the last 16.

Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Noel Fogarty, of Ireland, at the 19th in the fourth round; Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, defeated Graham Dudley of England 8 and 6; and Dean Behman of Silver Springs, Maryland, defeated Sean McDermott of Ireland, 2 up.

Other American through to the fifth round are Harold Ridgley of Roanoke, Va., and Lt. Bob McGee, of Newton, Mass.

Contenders See Indianapolis Race As Close Contest

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The contenders in Saturday's 500-mile auto race figure it will be such a close contest that it may be won or lost in the pits.

To save a few seconds in the stops for fuel and tires, mechanics have installed pneumatic jacks on five of the cars. One crewman will attach a tank of compressed air to a fitting and the car will hop up on three or four legs.

Manual jacks will be eliminated from cars driven by Jim Rathmann, Miami; his brother, Dick, San Gabriel, Calif.; last year's winner Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz.; Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., and Rodger Ward, Los Angeles.

Tight Race Seen In International

By The Associated Press

There isn't much chance of standing still in the International League these days—you either go way up in the standings or way down.

Only five games separate first place Miami and last place Toronto, with three teams tied for second place, a half-game back of the Marlins after Wednesday night's action.

The Rochester Red Wings beat the Marlins 3-1 to sweep the three game series and jump into a second place tie with the Buffalo Bisons and Montreal Royals.

The Bisons lost their third straight to the Havana Sugar Kings, 3-2 while the Royals were belting the Columbus Jets 12-2.

Trainer At Ascot Given Suspension For Doping Horse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—For allegedly stimulating a horse that won a race at Ascot Park, near Cuyahoga Falls, trainer Edward G. Gallrein of Pleasure Ridge Park, Ky., has been suspended by the Racing Commission for 90 days.

Track stewards charged that Gallrein was responsible for stimulating Josie, which won the second race on the opening day of the Ascot season, April 3.

Three grooms also were charged with stimulation in the case, but they were exonerated.

The commission has set a June 12 hearing for David Fuchs of Mount Washington (Hamilton County), who is seeking a groom's license.

Les Peden, manager of the Shreveport Sports in the Southern Assn., is a graduate of Texas A&M.

Good Things In Golfing Happen Late To U.S. Star

SANDWICH, England (AP)—The good things in golf have come late in athletic life to William Hyndman III.

At 43, he's a symbol for three million American duffers of what can happen if you don't give up hope and keep on hitting the ball.

With a little luck, some nerve, practice and money, maybe they can match the Hyndman story and in four years spring from obscurity and midiocrity into an international star.

"Until 1955 I never left Philadelphia," said Hyndman. "Now look at me—Sandwich, England, and the British Amateur Championship and two weeks ago Muirfield, Scotland, and the Walker Cup Matches.

"It took me 43 years to do it while it takes some of the kids only 19 or 20. But the wait has been worth it.

"Before I got here, I had to correct my golfing swing, change my grip, practice for thousands of hours, take beatings from kids a lot younger than I am and branch out from Philadelphia.

"Until 1955 I was too busy and I had to work too hard to leave Philadelphia. About that time my insurance agency began going good. That provided me with enough money to move about."

Hyndman got his first scent of fame in 1955 when he was a finalist in the U. S. National Amateur. The next year he was finalist in the North and South. In 1957 he was on the Walker Cup team and 12th in the National Open.

Last October he was on the U. S. team at the World Championships at St. Andrews and his final round of 71 put the Americans into a playoff with the Australians which the Australians finally won.

This year he was 18th in the Masters.

"But you know what? I still never won a single title outside of Philadelphia—not yet. But I am still trying."

LaBuda, Toledo Waite Cage Coach, Resigns

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Chet La Buda, head basketball coach at Toledo Waite High School for the last five years, has resigned.

LaBuda said Wednesday night that "things have not been as successful as I might have hoped. The progress I have made doesn't measure up to my own standard."

As head coach he has had just one winning season—1956-57 when his team won 11 and lost 9. Overall his teams have won 36 and lost 61.

LaBuda is a native of Warren, Ohio and a graduate of Wittenbert College. He coached at St. Paris, Ohio, and New Lexington, Ohio, before coming to Waite.

Manager Harding Peterson of Wilson, N. C., caught briefly for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Indians Return Home Tonight After Split With Chicago

Wynn Tosses 5-Hitter To Beat Tribe's Bell

CLEVELAND (AP)—The best bet for the Cleveland Indians is to play at night and drop the Chicago White Sox from their schedule.

Returning home for a three-game series with the Kansas City Athletics starting tonight, the Tribe still maintains a one-game lead over second-place Chicago.

The Indians have won 24 and lost 14. Here's the rub, though:

Of those 14 losses, half have been to the Chicago White Sox. Cleveland has won three of the 10 meetings. During the daytime, the Tribe is no better than a .500 club, splitting 24 games. At night, however, the record is 12-2, both losses coming at the hands of the Baltimore Orioles.

The latest loss came in Chicago Wednesday, 5-1, with Early Wynn turning on his former mates for the seventh straight time since he was traded away before the start of the 1958 season.

Earl Torgeson and Sherman Lollar hit homers off Gary Bell, who went the distance for the Indians to suffer his third loss in seven decisions. He permitted eight hits.

The Indians got only five hits off Wynn, who was relieved by Gerry Staley with two on and one out in the ninth inning. Staley retired Minnie Minoso and Rocky Colavito to end the game.

Consecutive doubles by catcher Ed Fitzgerald and Minoso in the first inning produced the lone run for Cleveland. Bell nursed the 1-0 lead until the fifth.

A walk to John Callison, and Bubba Phillips' double—both with two out—tied the score 1-1. In the sixth, Nellie Fox led off with a single, was sacrificed to second and rode home on Larry Doby's line drive single to right. Torgeson then made it 4-1 with his home run into the right center stands.

Lollar's eighth inning home run finished the scoring.

(Jim (Mudcat) Grant (3-0) pitches for Cleveland tonight against Kansas City's Ray Herbert (4-3).

Bowdry Rips Anthony For Unanimous Nod

CHICAGO (AP)— A 22-year-old slasher from St. Louis, Jesse Bowdry, has vaulted into top contention for venerable Archie Moore's world light heavyweight title.

Bowdry took apart the erstwhile No. 1 light heavyweight contender, Tony Anthony, for a unanimous decision in a nationally televised 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

In a brutal but one-sided battle, Bowdry gave a tremendous boost to his No. 7 ranking by belting Anthony, a 3-1 favorite, all over the ring.

CINCINNATI'S Gus Bell (right) waits at home plate to greet Frank Robinson after he hit his second home run of the game Wednesday night at Crosley Field. Two other round-trippers were hit by the Reds as they defeated Philadelphia, 10-4. (UPI Telephoto)

Coe Is Loser In Big Upset

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Five Americans went into the fifth round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today with the expects forecasting that at least one of them will make the final.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, captain of the American Walker Cup team, made the flat prediction:

"I am sure one of our boys will be shooting for the title Saturday."

Coe, one of the favorites for the title, lost to Murray Lawrence of England by one hole Wednesday in the big upset of the tournament.

But three of his fellow Walker cuppers were still in the last 16.

Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Noel Fogarty, of Ireland, at the 19th in the fourth round; Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, defeated Graham Dudley of England 8 and 6; and Dean Behman of Silver Springs, Maryland, defeated Sean McDermott of Ireland, 2 up.

Other American through to the fifth round are Harold Ridgley of Roanoke, Va., and Lt. Bob McGee, of Newton, Mass.

Contenders See Indianapolis Race As Close Contest

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The contenders in Saturday's 500-mile auto race figure it will be such a close contest that it may be won or lost in the pits.

To save a few seconds in the stops for fuel and tires, mechanics have installed pneumatic jacks on five of the cars. One crewman will attach a tank of compressed air to a fitting and the car will hop up on three or four legs.

Manual jacks will be eliminated from cars driven by Jim Rathmann, Miami; his brother, Dick, San Gabriel, Calif.; last year's winner Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz.; Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., and Rodger Ward, Los Angeles.

Tight Race Seen In International

By The Associated Press

There isn't much chance of standing still in the International League these days—you either go way up in the standings or way down.

Only five games separate first place Miami and last place Toronto, with three teams tied for second place, a half-game back of the Marlins after Wednesday night's action.

The Rochester Red Wings beat the Marlins 3-1 to sweep the three game series and jump into a second place tie with the Buffalo Bisons and Montreal Royals.

The Bisons lost their third straight to the Havana Sugar Kings, 3-2 while the Royals were belting the Columbus Jets 12-2.

Trainer At Ascot Given Suspension For Doping Horse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—For allegedly stimulating a horse that won a race at Ascot Park, near Cuyahoga Falls, trainer Edward G. Gallrein of Pleasure Ridge Park, Ky., has been suspended by the Racing Commission for 90 days.

Track stewards charged that Gallrein was responsible for stimulating Josie, which won the second race on the opening day of the Ascot season, April 3.

Three grooms also were charged with stimulation in the case, but they were exonerated.

The commission has set a June 12 hearing for David Fuchs of Mount Washington (Hamilton County), who is seeking a groom's license.

Les Peden, manager of the Shreveport Sports in the Southern Assn., is a graduate of Texas A&M.

Good Things In Golfing Happen Late To U.S. Star

SANDWICH, England (AP)—The good things in golf have come late in athletic life to William Hyndman III.

At 43, he's a symbol for three million American duffers of what can happen if you don't give up hope and keep on hitting the ball.

With a little luck, some nerve, practice and money, maybe they can match the Hyndman story and in four years spring from obscurity and midiocrity into an international star.

"Until 1955 I never left Philadelphia," said Hyndman. "Now look at me—Sandwich, England, and the British Amateur Championship and two weeks ago Muirfield, Scotland, and the Walker Cup Matches.

"It took me 43 years to do it while it takes some of the kids only 19 or 20. But the wait has been worth it.

"Before I got here, I had to correct my golfing swing, change my grip, practice for thousands of hours, take beatings from kids a lot younger than I am and branch out from Philadelphia.

"Until 1955 I was too busy and I had to work too hard to leave Philadelphia. About that time my insurance agency began going good. That provided me with enough money to move about."

Hyndman got his first scent of fame in 1955 when he was a finalist in the U. S. National Amateur. The next year he was finalist in the North and South. In 1957 he was on the Walker Cup team and 12th in the National Open.

Last October he was on the U. S. team at the World Championships at St. Andrews and his final round of 71 put the Americans into a playoff with the Australians which the Australians finally won.

This year he was 18th in the Masters.

"But you know what? I still never won a single title outside of Philadelphia—not yet. But I am still trying."

Out Of The Air

TV: Mess Or Miracle?

John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column is being written by guest columnists from television.

By HUBBELL ROBINSON
Vice President, Programs
CBS Television Network

Depending on what observer you read, which pressure group you listen to, which of your friends talks the loudest, which "letters to the editor" happen to trip your attention, television is either the worst blight to befall the republic since Benedict Arnold, or mankind's biggest boon since somebody's great granddaddy invented the wheel.

It's both.

AS ANYONE with eyes and ears knows, television is a gigantic compound of nonsense, mediocrity and massive artistic and imaginative accomplishments which certainly must have producers of another age spinning in their graves, grateful they operated in a world less complex than the current Paleolithic one.

The total answer to television's future seems to me to lie in the matter of balance. If it tips unmistakable toward pattern programming, toward every producer industriously seeking to duplicate precisely the hits of the season before, it will surely deteriorate.

"What trend do you see — more Westerns, more private eyes, etc?" is the favorite and usually the foremost question of every interviewer seeking copy from us hapless creatures who are supposed to foresee these things.

THE QUESTION itself is disturbing. It presupposes an inevitable and compulsive tendency to copy the current successes.

It assumes the industry is dedicated inexorably to slavish imitation of whatever has worked before. Although one can be appalled at this gambit, it is not entirely fair to indict those who advance it. There is ample fodder to nourish their suspicion.

During the last year, "Peter Gunn," which turned out to be a jazz concert with actors attached, had a substantial success. It had that surge because of its jazz milieu, style and freshness.

And, as an obvious result, I have yet to see a private eye show proposed for the coming season in which the bongo drums and licorice sticks didn't have more to say than the actors.

I HAVE NO quarrel with producers whose entire purpose is simply to be entertaining. I have no nightmares over the prospect of more private eye, melodrama mystery or action shows.

But I reject totally the right of these shows to a place in the television sun if they lack uniqueness, difference, style of their own — all the elements which producers worthy of their salt insist on as a matter of personal integrity.

Advertisers and their agents, too, must stand up and be counted while television's creative determination is being evolved. If gun law rules far too many hours of the television week, the bankroller's addiction to the law of conformity is responsible.

Advertisers seem to forget that in reality, in television, as in every other form of entertainment, the big gambles, for the most part, have paid the biggest return.

The tendency of so many advertisers to hedge their bets by zealously following a formula that has worked before has been a compelling deterrent to invention and innovation.

ALL OF US who produce for television will continue to deal in drama, melodrama, comedy, music, all the forms which have demonstrated their effectiveness in communicating excitement, fun, ideas and information to audiences.

These are the basic materials of our craft. But our continuance will have foreseeable terminal points if to craftsmanship we can't add the artistry that results from imagination, taste, discipline, and the inner insistence to do and say it better than it has ever been said or done before.

To those doubting Thomases, cynics and decimal point devotees who will contend these sound like words from an ivory tower, I recommend careful scrutiny of the major successes of the last five years. With a few exceptions, expectable in a medium as protean as television, you will find they all had these ingredients and the failures lacked them.

If all television's makers, molders and buyers of programs would practise this doctrine as industriously as some of them preach it, television would be considerably less messy and more miraculous.

It can be done.

Choir Parents Pick Officers

Officers were elected by the ELHS Choir Parents Association at the final meeting of the term Tuesday night in the choir room of the Memorial Auditorium.

Named were Atty. William Brokaw, president; Edward Sanford, vice president; Charles Lampman, re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. Allan Montgomery, secretary.

Frank Dawson is the retiring president. The nominating committee included Mrs. Louise Applegate, chairman, Mrs. Frank Lovas and Mrs. James Migliore.

The group authorized King Matthews, choir director, to arrange a trip to Cleveland next Thursday for members of the Senior Choir. Two chartered buses will leave the auditorium at 9 a. m.

Following a sight-seeing tour, the choir will attend a performance of the "King and I." The students will be chaperoned.

The group authorized the purchase of filing cabinets for Matthews. They were donated in the name of the choir members who are graduating this year.

Cleveland Airport Is Exempted On Real Estate Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland airport has won exemption from real estate taxes on some of its facilities, setting the stage for similar benefits to other municipal airports around the state.

The Board of Tax Appeals reported Wednesday it has ruled hangars, parking lots, fuel storage facilities and certain other terminal accommodations are public property, exempt from property taxation.

The decisions were made after applications for exemption of certain property at Cleveland Hopkins Airport from 1958 real estate taxes. Airport representatives from Dayton, Columbus and Toledo, acting as "friends of the courts," supported the Cleveland appeal in the hope the board would grant exemptions applicable to other municipal airports.

The Cuyahoga County auditor had put hangars, municipally-owned parking lots and other facilities on the tax list starting with the 1957 tax year. The board declared them exempt because they are part of airline operations.

Awards Presented 10 Cubs At Longs Run

Ten members of Cub Scout Pack 36 of the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church have been presented awards. They are, Robert Walker and Robert Simms, wolf badge; James Gooding and Robert Copestick, bear badge and gold arrow; Billy Torrence, bear badge and gold and silver arrows; Jeffrey Welch, one-year pin and gold arrow; Robert Rohr, gold arrow; Billy Croxall, one-year pin, and Roger Roe and Alex Lane, silver arrow.

Fred Dailey, Darrell Seckman and Allen Copestick of the pack have been inducted into the Flying Eagle Patrol Troop 59 of Wellsville. The pack will hold a picnic June 27 at Thompson Park. Mrs. Evelyn Copestick and Mrs. Louise Croxall are food chairmen.

City Junior To Attend June Science Institute

A St. Clair Ave. student will be among 85 outstanding high school juniors and seniors to attend the annual summer science institute at the University of Cincinnati June 14-19.

Peter Ryckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ryckman, 3289 St. Clair Ave., will receive an intensive week of study of newest developments in the biological sciences.

A junior in East Liverpool High School, Ryckman is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club, Science Club and the staff of the school newspaper.

The institute's theme is "Microbes, Mutations and Men." Members of the Cincinnatus Society, UC honorary service organization, will sponsor a social and recreational program with university personnel as hosts.

Donations Total $22 By Fairview Grange

Contributions totaling $22 were authorized by the Fairview Grange at a meeting Tuesday night at the Pughtown Grange Hall.

The group approved $15 for sending a boy or girl to 4-H camp, $5 to the Juvenile Grange Camp in August and $2 to the National Youth Committee.

James Plimpton was named to attend a state conservation camp at Tomlinson Run State Park in July. Patriotic readings were given by Mrs. Beulah Cupp, Mrs. Agnes Herron and Mrs. Charles Mills.

A poem was read by Mrs. Hilary Johnston. Lunch was served 27 by Mrs. Herron and committee. The next meeting will be June 9.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Beautiful Figure Hidden By Bulges

Teenagers, dust off a dream. Beneath the bulges you have a beautiful figure. Are you willing to make the effort to find it? To reduce pounds, you will have to stop overeating, and cut calories a little below your daily requirements But don't belittle the importance of exercise. To be beautiful and healthy, bodies must be used — circulation must be stimulated and muscles pulled and released.

Ida Jean Kain

Call calisthenics by their descriptive name — shape - ups. Exercise will enable you to build where you need developing, and reduce where unneeded fat has accumulated. Fat and muscle tone cannot occupy the same spot, so get a move on!

To make your slimming routine come alive, stretch, bend and swing through the middle. B-e-n-d sidewards for a winsome waist . . . long and smooth.

SWING FOR svelte hips. Get a picture in mind of the way you intend to look — lithe, lissome and lovely. Come on . . . pull out of the slump. Don't be a lazy daisy.

Exercise can work a miracle, provided you don't cheat. The key word is daily. Ask your gym teacher to show you the exact exercise movements that will change those bulges to curves. In the meantime, here's a rousing routine:

Position: Ups-a-daisy . . . lie on back and then roll back on shoulders, weight braced with elbows and palms, legs extended back overhead, knees straight.

Movement: Important — pull toes toward insteps and point heels hard to increase stretch on calf muscles. Now shuttle the legs rapidly, one up, the other down, and reverse. Shuttle for fifty counts, knees straight, toes pulled toward insteps.

Follow this with deep knee bends, keeping heels flat on floor. Bend knees, keep heels on floor, place hands on floor between feet and, as you return to standing position, bend elbows and square your shoulders. This improves chest, slims hips and legs.

Next, a resistance exercise to slim the hips . . .

Position: Lie face downwards, hands under chin, legs together, knees straight.

Movement: Lifting legs slightly, separate legs to stride position. Do not slide legs, but let it be a lift with action done by buttocks muscles. Hit a rhythm . . . stride, back together, stride apart, together, etc.

—:—

NOW, TO INCREASE the effort, do this exercise keeping legs together, lifting, and swinging both legs first to the left touching toes to floor at the left, and then to the right.

This is not a sissy exercise. But you're young and healthy. If you are eager and willing, you can find the beautiful body that is rightfully yours.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for exercise leaflets entitled "Slim Hips In A Hurry" and "Leg Normalizing Exercises." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Out Of The Air

TV: Mess Or Miracle?

John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column is being written by guest columnists from television.

By HUBBELL ROBINSON
Vice President, Programs
CBS Television Network

Depending on what observer you read, which pressure group you listen to, which of your friends talks the loudest, which "letters to the editor" happen to trip your attention, television is either the worst blight to befall the republic since Benedict Arnold, or mankind's biggest boon since somebody's great granddaddy invented the wheel.

It's both.

AS ANYONE with eyes and ears knows, television is a gigantic compound of nonsense, mediocrity and massive artistic and imaginative accomplishments which certainly must have producers of another age spinning in their graves, grateful they operated in a world less complex than the current Paleolithic one.

The total answer to television's future seems to me to lie in the matter of balance. If it tips unmistakable toward pattern programming, toward every producer industriously seeking to duplicate precisely the hits of the season before, it will surely deteriorate.

"What trend do you see — more Westerns, more private eyes, etc?" is the favorite and usually the foremost question of every interviewer seeking copy from us hapless creatures who are supposed to foresee these things.

THE QUESTION itself is disturbing. It presupposes an inevitable and compulsive tendency to copy the current successes.

It assumes the industry is dedicated inexorably to slavish imitation of whatever has worked before. Although one can be appalled at this gambit, it is not entirely fair to indict those who advance it. There is ample fodder to nourish their suspicion.

During the last year, "Peter Gunn," which turned out to be a jazz concert with actors attached, had a substantial success. It had that surge because of its jazz milieu, style and freshness.

And, as an obvious result, I have yet to see a private eye show proposed for the coming season in which the bongo drums and licorice sticks didn't have more to say than the actors.

I HAVE NO quarrel with producers whose entire purpose is simply to be entertaining. I have no nightmares over the prospect of more private eye, melodrama mystery or action shows.

But I reject totally the right of these shows to a place in the television sun if they lack uniqueness, difference, style of their own — all the elements which producers worthy of their salt insist on as a matter of personal integrity.

Advertisers and their agents, too, must stand up and be counted while television's creative determination is being evolved. If gun law rules far too many hours of the television week, the bankroller's addiction to the law of conformity is responsible.

Advertisers seem to forget that in reality, in television, as in every other form of entertainment, the big gambles, for the most part, have paid the biggest return.

The tendency of so many advertisers to hedge their bets by zealously following a formula that has worked before has been a compelling deterrent to invention and innovation.

ALL OF US who produce for television will continue to deal in drama, melodrama, comedy, music, all the forms which have demonstrated their effectiveness in communicating excitement, fun, ideas and information to audiences.

These are the basic materials of our craft. But our continuance will have foreseeable terminal points if to craftsmanship we can't add the artistry that results from imagination, taste, discipline, and the inner insistence to do and say it better than it has ever been said or done before.

To those doubting Thomases, cynics and decimal point devotees who will contend these sound like words from an ivory tower, I recommend careful scrutiny of the major successes of the last five years. With a few exceptions, expectable in a medium as protean as television, you will find they all had these ingredients and the failures lacked them.

If all television's makers, molders and buyers of programs would practise this doctrine as industriously as some of them preach it, television would be considerably less messy and more miraculous.

It can be done.

Choir Parents Pick Officers

Officers were elected by the ELHS Choir Parents Association at the final meeting of the term Tuesday night in the choir room of the Memorial Auditorium.

Named were Atty. William Brokaw, president; Edward Sanford, vice president; Charles Lampman, re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. Allan Montgomery, secretary.

Frank Dawson is the retiring president. The nominating committee included Mrs. Louise Applegate, chairman, Mrs. Frank Lovas and Mrs. James Migliore.

The group authorized King Matthews, choir director, to arrange a trip to Cleveland next Thursday for members of the Senior Choir. Two chartered buses will leave the auditorium at 9 a. m.

Following a sight-seeing tour, the choir will attend a performance of the "King and I." The students will be chaperoned.

The group authorized the purchase of filing cabinets for Matthews. They were donated in the name of the choir members who are graduating this year.

Cleveland Airport Is Exempted On Real Estate Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland airport has won exemption from real estate taxes on some of its facilities, setting the stage for similar benefits to other municipal airports around the state.

The Board of Tax Appeals reported Wednesday it has ruled hangars, parking lots, fuel storage facilities and certain other terminal accommodations are public property, exempt from property taxation.

The decisions were made after applications for exemption of certain property at Cleveland Hopkins Airport from 1958 real estate taxes. Airport representatives from Dayton, Columbus and Toledo, acting as "friends of the courts," supported the Cleveland appeal in the hope the board would grant exemptions applicable to other municipal airports.

The Cuyahoga County auditor had put hangars, municipally-owned parking lots and other facilities on the tax list starting with the 1957 tax year. The board declared them exempt because they are part of airline operations.

City Junior To Attend June Science Institute

A St. Clair Ave. student will be among 85 outstanding high school juniors and seniors to attend the annual summer science institute at the University of Cincinnati June 14-19.

A junior in East Liverpool High School, Ryckman is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club, Science Club and the staff of the school newspaper.

The institute's theme is "Microbes, Mutations and Men." Members of the Cincinnatus Society, UC honorary service organization, will sponsor a social and recreational program with university personnel as hosts.

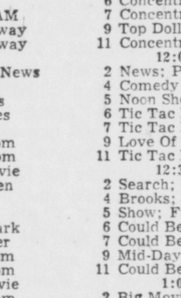
Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Beautiful Figure Hidden By Bulges

Teenagers, dust off a dream. Beneath the bulges you have a beautiful figure. Are you willing to make the effort to find it? To reduce pounds, you will have to stop overeating, and cut calories a little below your daily requirements But don't belittle the importance of exercise. To be beautiful and healthy, bodies must be used — circulation must be stimulated and muscles pulled and released.



Ida Jean Kain

Call calisthenics by their descriptive name — shape - ups. Exercise will enable you to build where you need developing, and reduce where unneeded fat has accumulated. Fat and muscle tone cannot occupy the same spot, so get a move on!

To make your slimming routine come alive, stretch, bend and swing through the middle. B-e-n-d sidewards for a winsome waist . . . long and smooth.

SWING FOR svelte hips. Get a picture in mind of the way you intend to look — lithe, lissome and lovely. Come on . . . pull out of the slump. Don't be a lazy daisy.

Exercise can work a miracle, provided you don't cheat. The key word is daily. Ask your gym teacher to show you the exact exercise movements that will change those bulges to curves. In the meantime, here's a rousing routine:

Position: Ups-a-daisy . . . lie on back and then roll back on shoulders, weight braced with elbows and palms, legs extended back overhead, knees straight.

Movement: Important — pull toes toward insteps and point heels hard to increase stretch on calf muscles. Now shuttle the legs rapidly, one up, the other down, and reverse. Shuttle for fifty counts, knees straight, toes pulled toward insteps.

Follow this with deep knee bends, keeping heels flat on floor. Bend knees, keep heels on floor, place hands on floor between feet and, as you return to standing position, bend elbows and square your shoulders. This improves chest, slims hips and legs.

Next, a resistance exercise to slim the hips . . .

Position: Lie face downwards, hands under chin, legs together, knees straight.

Movement: Lifting legs slightly, separate legs to stride position. Do not slide legs, but let it be a lift with action done by buttocks muscles. Hit a rhythm . . . stride, back together, stride apart, together, etc.

—:—

NOW, TO INCREASE the effort, do this exercise keeping legs together, lifting, and swinging both legs first to the left touching toes to floor at the left, and then to the right.

This is not a sissy exercise. But you're young and healthy. If you are eager and willing, you can find the beautiful body that is rightfully yours.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for exercise leaflets entitled "Slim Hips In A Hurry" and "Leg Normalizing Exercises." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Origins Of 'Decoration Day' Traced To Southern Widows

In checking on the origin of Memorial Day observance, it is surprising to find that the custom of decorating the graves was started by Southern widows during the Civil War.

Their example was imitated in the North and in 1868 Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued an order designating May 30 as the official day for decorating soldiers' graves.

Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, said that in this connection, Hodding Carter's "The Angry Scar," which is the story of the Reconstruction Period in the South, seems like a most timely publication.

Carter in his capacity as editor of the Delta Democrat and Times has been awarded the Pulitzer prize. In recreating the crucial period from 1865 to 1890 he writes in terms of the people—using excerpts from diaries, letters and newspaper accounts. He succeeds in showing the misguided efforts of the carpetbaggers, the fireating Abolitionists and well - meaning souls such as Thaddus Stevens, who felt "that all would be solved by giving every Negro 40 acres and a mule."

Written in a totally different vein is the reminiscence of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. in "Day Before Yesterday." Since her husband was so much a part of the World War I era, her recollections of working with the American Expeditionary Forces in Paris, when she followed her husband abroad, will be enjoyed by all who remember this era vividly.

With the Russians again stealing the headlines, a trio of volumes which reveal more about the Soviets are pertinent.

Heinz Schroter, a German, has written a memorial to those who died at a famous battle. In his book, "Stalingrad the Battle that Changed the World," he makes this comment about the Russian soldier:

"The Russian was always obedient, resigned to his fate and satisfied with terribly little."

Bernard Wolfe, who served on Trotsky's personal staff, has written of a significant aspect of Bolshevik history in a novel, "The Great Prince Died." Representing the Czarist point of view, Serge Obolensky has written his memoirs in "One Man in His Time."

Adlai Stevenson provides a concise rundown on the Soviet Empire today in "Friends and Enemies." This is a report on his recent 7,000-mile journey in which he noted strains of dissent in the Communist camp.

Two books of political orientation by lawyers are Arthur Larson's "What are We For?" and "Equal Justice for the Accused" by the National Legal Aid Association and the Bar of the City of New York. The first volume is a popular definition of the American viewpoint by a professor of law who was briefly dean of the University of Pittsburgh Law School and is presently at Duke University.

A Columbia professor, Clarence King, has written a little practical manual on how to sell democracy abroad. It is called "Working With People In Small Communities." And Frederic Sondern has written the history of the Mafia in "Brotherhood of Evil."

Fiction on this week's new shelf includes two novels by two well known authors. Ruth Suckow, long famous for "The Folks," has an intriguing new novel about her native Iowa, displaying the usual astute characterization—the title, "The John Wood Case." Pearl Buck once again tries her hand with the modern American scene in "Command the Morning."

Akin to the ridiculous situations found in "Tea House In the August Moon" is another novel about American military emeshed in Oriental customs. This is Howard Singer's "Wake Me When It's Over." A sparkling novelette about the New York stage is Millicent Brower's "Ingenue."

Man Found Dead

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Donald Lee Parker, 34, was found dead Wednesday in a wooded area in Leroy Twp. There were no marks on the body, which was face down in grass several feet from his parked automobile. Lake County Coroner Richard W. McBurney said an autopsy will be performed. Parker, son of Perry Village Police Chief Paul Parker, had been clearing brush in the area.
